Ranger Will Strike Moon Or Just Miss

Scientists Track 'Brainless' Craft After Timer Fails

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The crippled spacecraft Ranger 4 is coasting toward a crash on the moon's backside, or to a possible near miss and a fiery end in the earth's atmosphere.

Calculations indicate a collision at 8:50 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Thursday, about 64 hours after blastoff from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Monday.

Jet propulsion laboratory scientists who created and are tracking the craft said, however, that it could barely miss.

Tumbles End Over End

Ranger 4 was launched beautifully by an Atlas-Agena B booster combination. Two hours after launch scientists determined that a timer, supposed to govern many of its functions, had failed.

That in effect rendered useless its electronic brain. Unable to act on or respond to commands from earth, unable to lock on to the sun and stabilize itself, it simply tumbled end over end out of control toward the moon.

Disappointed scientists found cause for cheer in the guidance. Hitting the moon with an unguided spacecraft is likened to hitting a bird on the wing with a rifle. The Soviet Union hit the moon once. The United States has failed to achieve its goal in seven previous moon shots.

No Lunar Pictures

The 730-pound silver and gold interplanetary voyager had these goals: To radio back photos of the moon's surface; to measure lunar radioactivity; to measure its radar reflection properties; to land instruments in a balsawood ball that would record moonquakes and meteor impacts.

Calculations indicate that Ranger 4 will skim the moon's leading edge at a height of 900 miles and curve in to crash on the hidden backside.

It could, if there were a tiny error in calculations, curve behind the moon without impacting and hurtle back to burn out in the earth's atmosphere.

Quorum Lack Delays Senate Rights Battle

Dixiecrats, Led By Russell, Plan Verbal Blockade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southern Democrats won a preliminary round Tuesday in the Senate's second civil rights fight of the session by forcing adjournment because not enough members were present to do business.

This presented the leadership with the problem of boosting attendance Wednesday so the body can formally take up a measure to abolish state literacy tests as a voting requirement.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield moved for adjournment at 1:35 p.m. EST after a quorum call turned up only 35 of the required 51 members. The call was imposed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the southern bloc planning a sustained talkathon against the literacy measure.

Offered As Substitute

Mansfield plans to offer the literacy test repealer as a substitute for a minor House-approved bill carrying $2,001.84 in debt relief for James M. Norman, a Memphis, Tex., wheat grower. The substitute also would make a sixth grade education proof of literacy for voting in federal elections.

In preliminary sparring Tuesday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., attacked as "shocking and shameful" the transport of unemployed Negroes from New Orleans to the nation's capital, financed by a segregationist group.

Keating Denounces Move

Javits said the action was "a strange backdrop to this civil rights battle," but one which would strengthen public support for the literacy measure.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., joined Javits in denouncing the move. "It is shocking to discover at this stage in our history that some of our fellow Americans cannot find a home and a living in the land of their forefathers," he told the Senate.

Confederation Plans Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido ordered federal control over Argentina's provinces Tuesday, wiping out election gains by followers of exiled dictator Juan Peron.

The giant General Confederation of Labor lashed back with a call to its 3 million members to stand by for a nationwide strike.

Guido bowed to military pressures and issued his anti-Peronist decree after resisting demands of Army and Navy bosses for more than three weeks. His hand was forced when generals in three provinces took over control from civilian governors.

By annulling March 18 elections he erased the victories of Peronists who had elected five governors and supported four more successful candidates for governor.

The decree also wiped out the results of the elections of Dec. 17, Jan. 14 and Feb. 25 in which other parties scored in provincial and municipal contests.

Peronists Won 47 Seats

His decree did not mention, however, the national congressional elections March 18 in which Peronists won 47 seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

The announcement of the president's action was made only minutes after the news that generals in Entre Rios, Santa Fe and Corientes provinces had asked the elected governors in those provinces to step aside to permit military control.

Only Monday night, a spokesman for the president had denied that the chief executive had decided upon federal intervention.

Clarification Needed

It was not yet clear whether the president, by his decree, would attempt to replace the generals in the three provinces with civilians as deposed President Arturo Frondizi did last month.

At that time Frondizi, under military pressure to counter the surprising gains of the followers of ex-Dictator Juan D. Peron, named federal interventors in the five provinces where they elected governors.

Frondizi failed to appease the military, however, and was deposed and sent to imprisonment on the Island of Martin Garcia in the River Plate.

Opening Blast Of Series May Come Today

Green Light Given Pacific Task Force To Begin Air Shots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy gave the final go-ahead Tuesday for resumption of U.S. nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere after Russia turned down its last chance to forestall the new series. The first U.S. explosion in 3½ years was expected Wednesday.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) announced that the President had authorized it and the Defense Department to proceed "with a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere over the Pacific" as soon as it was "operationally feasible."

An AEC spokesman said the first weapon could be tested in "a day or a few days" depending on such things as weather conditions. Other officials said they expected the first explosion in the Christmas Island area of the Pacific within a matter of hours.

The tests, dubbed "Operation Dominic," will be conducted by Joint Task Force Eight under the command of Maj. Gen. A. D. Starbird.

The announcement of the new tests came after Soviet negotiators at nuclear test ban talks in Geneva turned down the U.S.-British demand for a foolproof system of international detection and controls to guard against secret tests.

When Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin again rejected the Allied proposal, the stage was set for announcement of the President's go-ahead. Kennedy awaited late into the day for word from Geneva before releasing the U.S. announcement.

Soviets To Test

Earlier in Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told the Soviet parliament that Russia would test "new types" of Soviet nuclear weapons if the United States went ahead. Russia conducted its most recent series only last fall.

The State Department was geared for a wave of criticism of the U.S. tests, despite the fact that it was Russia which launched the new go-round. But the department also hopes for a good measure of support and understanding.

Among countries from which criticism was expected were Japan, India, Egypt and a number of new African states.

Shortly before announcement of the go-ahead, U Thant, acting secretary general of the United Nations, appealed to the atomic powers to refrain from new tests He observed that the General Assembly had taken a clear stand against further test explosions.

Congress Backs President

In Congress, where nearly all members favored the test resumption, Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the House - Senate Atomic Energy Committee, said the President had no alternative but to resume testing.

From Palm Beach, Fla., where the President is spending the week, UPI White House reporter Merriman Smith reported that the President decided to resume testing some time ago when he became convinced Russia had no immediate intention of agreeing to a test ban.

The President set a time by which Russia had to agree to the test ban treaty. That deadline obviously was 5 p.m. EST Tuesday, the hour upon which the Atomic Energy Commission released announcement of his go-ahead order.

Weather conditions appeared favorable for test in the Pacific, according to the best available information.

The National Meteorological Center near Washington said the latest report from the Christmas Island area, at about 1 p.m. EST, showed a three-quarters cloud cover and a light wind. But the clouds were of the cumulus type, known to weathermen as "fair weather" clouds.

Gromyko Sees Hope For Some German Accord

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said Tuesday there are hopes for Soviet-American agreement on three tough issues holding up settlement of the German question.

He said the hopes were based first of all on American understanding of the importance of giving neither East nor West Germany nuclear weapons.

He added that there is Soviet-American understanding in principle of the need for a nonaggression pact between North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact powers.

Thirdly, he said recent U.S. declarations make clear there is no objection to tying continued free access to West Berlin to respect for the sovereignty of East Germany.

Gromyko was reporting to a rather lackluster session of the Supreme Soviet on the disarmament talks in Geneva.

He had talks there on Berlin with U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, but the issues he mentioned Tuesday were actually raised by Rusk in talks with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin in Washington eight days ago.

Obviously they had been studied since then at the highest level of the Soviet government before cautious approval was given.

This is the first time the Soviet Union has swung around publicly to the American view that lower levels on Berlin should show progress before Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy get together to confirm them.

Khrushchev, beaming approval, sat on the platform as Gromyko spoke. He had just been unanimously re-elected chairman of the Council of Ministers—premier—to the cheers of 1,429 delegates. He told them he would shortly name a new Cabinet.

U.S. Steel To Pay Regular Dividend

NEW YORK (UPI) — United States Steel, whose attempted price increase was beaten down by the administration, Tuesday said it would pay the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share that it has paid since 1957.

At a news conference after the company issued its March quarter earnings, U. S. Steel Chairman Roger Blough said the corporation would do "everything we can to improve earnings." He reiterated some of his arguments which steel used when it announced its short-lived price increase April 11.

Blough said that the first quarter earning of the company were $55.8 million or 91 cents a share. This, he said, compared with only 47 cents in the first period of 1961 when there was a slight recession.

Soviets Again Balk At A-Test Ban Inspection

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union rejected again Tuesday American and British demands for an inspection system to safeguard a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean and British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber the negotiations for a test-ban agreement would come to an inglorious end if the Western powers maintained their control demands.

Neither Tsarapkin nor the two Western delegates referred to the forthcoming U. S. atmospheric test series in the Pacific. Tsarapkin's boss, Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, threatened last week to lead a Soviet bloc walkout if the American tests took place as scheduled.

Tsarapkin turned down a Western proposal that some of the eight nonaligned countries at the 17-nation disarmament conference be invited to take part in the deadlocked negotiations. The negotiations are conducted in a subcommittee of the three nuclear powers.

Freedom Train Idea Denounced And Defended

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A proposal to send a "freedom train" North carrying 1,000 Negroes on a free one-way ride away from segregation in the South drew cries of outrage and defense Tuesday.

Northern political leaders, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial Equality spoke stinging words against the idea, originated by the Citizens Council of New Orleans.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., defended the proposal. He said it was merely "Freedom Riders" in reverse.

George L. Singelmann, director of the Citizens Council, made the idea public. He said the council wanted to provide the one-way transporation for Negroes unhappy with segregation customs in New Orleans.

The program to pay for one-way tickets for Negroes wishing to go to the North already has drawn one taker. Louis Boyd, his wife and eight children, went to New York by bus. The Citizens Council paid the $263 fare and gave each family member $5 for incidentals.

In a Senate speech, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., called the freedom train proposal shocking and shameful and said the American people "will be aroused by this heartless display of theatricalism."

Clarence Laws, field secretary for the NAACP, said the freedom train idea was a cruel hoax. Oretha Castle, New Orleans official of CORE, called it a hypocritical effort to gain cheap publicity.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the plan "violates every fundamental concept that we believe in as a people".

But, Rep. Hebert contended it was the NAACP "which helped the Freedom Rider pattern when it wholeheartedly endorsed Freedom Rides from North to South, even though the Southbound riders caused widespread disorder in flagrant disregard of law."

He referred to whites and Negroes touring from North to South last year, testing segregation customs. Hundreds were arrested.

Hodges Moves To Allay Fears Of Price Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said Tuesday the administration would not feel compelled to try to influence wage-price decisions in industry except where basic commodities were concerned.

He emphasized at a news conference that the administration's intervention in the steel price case would not be followed in every instance.

"As a practical matter" such intervention probably would be confined to basic industries and in event of signs the national interest was not being taken into account, he said.

As an example of an industry that might attract special administration attention, Hodges mentioned aluminum. However, he added that he had heard no discussions involving that industry particularly.

Asked to appraise the impact of the steel price debate on business-government relations, Hodges said, "It sort of appeared to me from reading the papers that Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Blough did a good job of getting back together again after getting apart."

Roger Blough is board chairman of U. S. Steel, which took the lead April 10 in announcing a $6-a-ton price increase. It was rescinded three days later.

Russia Reports Space-Probing Sputnik In Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union orbited Tuesday its third instrument-packed Sputnik in five weeks. At the same time it fully reported the communications failure aboard the American moon rocket Ranger 4.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the new Sputnik, Cosmos III, represented another step in a program of outer space probes to check and improve spaceship construction.

Apparently the Sputnik was unmanned.

Tass said preliminary data indicated the satellite was in an orbit close to its calculated path and that radio telemetric signals indicated all its equipment was functioning normally.

Tass carried detailed accounts of the communications breakdown aboard the Ranger 4, launched Monday, and emphasized what it called Western dismay at loss of contact with the U.S. spaceship.

A session of the Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, recessed early so that delegates could hear the announcement of the Cosmos III.

The launching was the third in a series that began March 16 following a long period of Soviet inactivity in space.

Tass said Cosmos III was orbiting the globe every 93.8 minutes. The orbit's inclination to the plane of the equator was given as 48 degrees 59 minutes. The orbit's farthest distance from the earth was reported at 448 miles and its closest 142 miles.

There was no immediate information on the weight or shape of the satellite.

Navy Plane Ditched

TOKYO (AP) — A U.S. Navy P2V Neptune patrol plane ditched in the Pacific off northern Japan Tuesday. All its 13-man crew was rescued by nearby Japanese fishing boats, the U.S. Navy announced. The plane developed engine trouble while on a routine flight off the coast of southern Hokkaido.

French Troops Mass At Oran

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Troop reinforcements began to mass on the outskirts of rebellious Oran Tuesday to break the resistance of the defiant European settlers.

Official sources indicated, however, that it may be some time before Oran commander Gen. Ralph Katz throws his men into action against the city's European quarter held by the terrorist Secret Army Organization (OAS).

French infantrymen seized three tall buildings in the heart of Oran and set up gun positions on rooftops. The move was the first part of a plan to gradually penetrate the city.

Thus far, there has been no secret army reaction to the move. Life continued normally in Oran where about 200,000 Europeans live.

Officials said Gen. Katz believes that the massive presence of troops in Oran would reduce bloodshed in case of a showdown with secret army commandos.

Cost Of Living Hits New Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher spring season prices for women's and girls' clothing helped push the nation's living costs up to a new peak in March.

The Labor Department reported Tuesday its consumers price index rose two-tenths of one per cent to reach the record level of 105.0 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

Coupled with a February increase, the increase meant a rise in two months of ½ per cent. But Arnold Chase, the department's consumer price expert, said he could see no sign of an inflationary trend.

Chase said the retail price level was only 1.1 per cent higher than a year ago, while the wholesale level is a bit under the year-ago mark.

While price tags on female clothing lines were up in March, costs of men's and boys' clothing were unchanged. There were increases in costs of services, fresh fruits and vegetables, prescriptions and drugs, used automobiles and durable house furnishings.

18-Couple, Mate-Swap Club Smashed By Police

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Police said Tuesday they've discovered a sex club of perhaps 18 married couples who'd visit one another's homes to swap mates for the night.

Two couples were arrested. Dist. Atty. Lowell E. Lathrop issued complaints charging them with conspiring to commit acts injurious to the public morals and outrageous to public decency.

Detective Leonard Alter remarked, "I've been a vice officer for 11 years and never saw anything like this before."

Named in the complaints were Harvey L. Braswell, 65, and his wife Sarah Ethel, 60, of suburban Rialto, and Steve F. Ference, 42, and his wife, Helen, 38, of Riverside.

Alter described the Braswells as the ringleaders. He said the two couples were arrested at the home of a young couple who had recently moved to San Bernardino from the East.

The new arrivals, the detective said, had answered a newspaper advertisement offering to find new friends for lonely couples.

Braswell told police about 18 other couples were involved in mate-swapping program. Investigators learned that since 1959 letters responding to Braswell's ads had come from Colton, Highland, Indio, Pomona, San Pedro, Los Angeles, Adelanto and Blythe, Calif., and Borger and Amarillo, Tex.

Police seized about 50 letters at Braswell's home and said they would turn them over to postal authorities for investigation.

ABA Would Defer Dividend Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Bar Association told the Senate Finance Committtee Tuesday the proposed tax withholding system on dividends and interest would produce a staggering number of errors and invite frauds.

Randolph W. Thrower, Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the ABA section on taxation, said his organization does not categorically oppose withholding but feels it should at least be deferred.

Meanwhile, he said, a thorough trial could be given to the automatic data processing and taxpayer account number plan being ing installed by the Internal Revenue Service.

This should pick up much of the revenue now being lost, Thrower contended.

Giant Saturn Rocket Poised For Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A second test flight was scheduled Wednesday for America's giant Saturn booster—the rocket that will permit the United States to put up payloads heavier than anything orbited so far by Russia.

This time out the Saturn will carry a payload of tapwater that will be dumped in space and likely will create the highest and largest ice cloud known to science since the world began.

Saturn is a prototype of the rockets that will lift teams of men and tons of machinery to the moon later this decade.

Two Girls, Victims Of Sex Slayer, Found In Icebox

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (AP)—A sex slayer murdered two 6-year-old girls by stuffing them into an unused refrigerator after raping one and punching the other in the jaw, police said Tuesday.

It is definitely a double murder, Police Chief Winfred Slaughter said after investigating what first appeared to be another tragedy of accidental icebox suffocation.

The partly clad victims, found wedged together in the refrigerator in a garage three doors from their own home, were Stephanie Hanna and Paula Cram.

Stephanie was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hanna, in this San Ferando Valley suburb 20 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles. Paula was a foster child who had lived with the Hannas about a month.

As officers and neighbors neared the end of a five-hour search, a hunch by a nearby housewife led to the discovery.

Leonora Greenfield, in whose garage the victims were found, had retired and was trying to sleep. Suddenly her mind connected the girls' disappearance with the refrigerator.

Slaughter and several of his men opened the refrigerator.

Stephanie and Paula lay clutching each other, one atop the other.

A physician said the girls had suffocated. A physician said Paula had been raped, and Stephanie struck by a heavy blow.

Hanna told police he prepared dinner for the girls Monday night because his wife was attending a meeting. They ate and went back out to play. Between 6:30 and 7 he called them; they didn't respond.

Vietnamese Troops, Planes Kill 69 Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) —South Vietnamese army troops, backed by air support, killed 69 Communist guerrillas Tuesday in a running battle only 34 miles southwest of Saigon, United States military sources said.

Four companies of special Vietnamese Rangers and Army infantry troops took part in the action, the sources said. A normal infantry company here varies from 100 to 130 men.

No government casualties were reported.

18-Couple, Mate-Swap Club Smashed By Police

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Police said Tuesday they've discovered a sex club of perhaps 18 married couples who'd visit one another's homes to swap mates for the night.

Two couples were arrested. Dist. Atty. Lowell E. Lathrop issued complaints charging them with conspiring to commit acts injurious to the public morals and outrageous to public decency.

Detective Leonard Alter remarked, "I've been a vice officer for 11 years and never saw anything like this before."

Named in the complaints were Harvey L. Braswell, 65, and his wife Sarah Ethel, 60, of suburban Rialto, and Steve F. Ference, 42, and his wife, Helen, 38, of Riverside.

Alter described the Braswells as the ringleaders. He said the two couples were arrested at the home of a young couple who had recently moved to San Bernardino from the East.

The new arrivals, the detective said, had answered a newspaper advertisement offering to find new friends for lonely couples.

Braswell told police about 18 other couples were involved in mate-swapping program. Investigators learned that since 1959 letters responding to Braswell's ads had come from Colton, Highland, Indio, Pomona, San Pedro, Los Angeles, Adelanto and Blythe, Calif., and Borger and Amarillo, Tex.

Police seized about 50 letters at Braswell's home and said they would turn them over to postal authorities for investigation.

ABA Would Defer Dividend Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Bar Association told the Senate Finance Committtee Tuesday the proposed tax withholding system on dividends and interest would produce a staggering number of errors and invite frauds.

Randolph W. Thrower, Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the ABA section on taxation, said his organization does not categorically oppose withholding but feels it should at least be deferred.

Meanwhile, he said, a thorough trial could be given to the automatic data processing and taxpayer account number plan being ing installed by the Internal Revenue Service.

This should pick up much of the revenue now being lost, Thrower contended.

Dixiecrats, Led By Russell, Plan Verbal Blockade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southern Democrats won a preliminary round Tuesday in the Senate's second civil rights fight of the session by forcing adjournment because not enough members were present to do business.

This presented the leadership with the problem of boosting attendance Wednesday so the body can formally take up a measure to abolish state literacy tests as a voting requirement.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield moved for adjournment at 1:35 p.m. EST after a quorum call turned up only 35 of the required 51 members. The call was imposed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the southern bloc planning a sustained talkathon against the literacy measure.

Offered As Substitute

Mansfield plans to offer the literacy test repealer as a substitute for a minor House-approved bill carrying $2,001.84 in debt relief for James M. Norman, a Memphis, Tex., wheat grower. The substitute also would make a sixth grade education proof of literacy for voting in federal elections.

In preliminary sparring Tuesday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., attacked as "shocking and shameful" the transport of unemployed Negroes from New Orleans to the nation's capital, financed by a segregationist group.

Keating Denounces Move

Javits said the action was "a strange backdrop to this civil rights battle," but one which would strengthen public support for the literacy measure.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., joined Javits in denouncing the move. "It is shocking to discover at this stage in our history that some of our fellow Americans cannot find a home and a living in the land of their forefathers," he told the Senate.

Confederation Plans Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido ordered federal control over Argentina's provinces Tuesday, wiping out election gains by followers of exiled dictator Juan Peron.

The giant General Confederation of Labor lashed back with a call to its 3 million members to stand by for a nationwide strike.

Guido bowed to military pressures and issued his anti-Peronist decree after resisting demands of Army and Navy bosses for more than three weeks. His hand was forced when generals in three provinces took over control from civilian governors.

By annulling March 18 elections he erased the victories of Peronists who had elected five governors and supported four more successful candidates for governor.

The decree also wiped out the results of the elections of Dec. 17, Jan. 14 and Feb. 25 in which other parties scored in provincial and municipal contests.

Peronists Won 47 Seats

His decree did not mention, however, the national congressional elections March 18 in which Peronists won 47 seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

The announcement of the president's action was made only minutes after the news that generals in Entre Rios, Santa Fe and Corientes provinces had asked the elected governors in those provinces to step aside to permit military control.

Only Monday night, a spokesman for the president had denied that the chief executive had decided upon federal intervention.

Clarification Needed

It was not yet clear whether the president, by his decree, would attempt to replace the generals in the three provinces with civilians as deposed President Arturo Frondizi did last month.

At that time Frondizi, under military pressure to counter the surprising gains of the followers of ex-Dictator Juan D. Peron, named federal interventors in the five provinces where they elected governors.

Frondizi failed to appease the military, however, and was deposed and sent to imprisonment on the Island of Martin Garcia in the River Plate.

Russia Reports Space-Probing Sputnik In Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union orbited Tuesday its third instrument-packed Sputnik in five weeks. At the same time it fully reported the communications failure aboard the American moon rocket Ranger 4.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the new Sputnik, Cosmos III, represented another step in a program of outer space probes to check and improve spaceship construction.

Apparently the Sputnik was unmanned.

Tass said preliminary data indicated the satellite was in an orbit close to its calculated path and that radio telemetric signals indicated all its equipment was functioning normally.

Tass carried detailed accounts of the communications breakdown aboard the Ranger 4, launched Monday, and emphasized what it called Western dismay at loss of contact with the U.S. spaceship.

A session of the Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, recessed early so that delegates could hear the announcement of the Cosmos III.

The launching was the third in a series that began March 16 following a long period of Soviet inactivity in space.

Tass said Cosmos III was orbiting the globe every 93.8 minutes. The orbit's inclination to the plane of the equator was given as 48 degrees 59 minutes. The orbit's farthest distance from the earth was reported at 448 miles and its closest 142 miles.

There was no immediate information on the weight or shape of the satellite.

Navy Plane Ditched

Giant Saturn Rocket Poised For Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A second test flight was scheduled Wednesday for America's giant Saturn booster—the rocket that will permit the United States to put up payloads heavier than anything orbited so far by Russia.

This time out the Saturn will carry a payload of tapwater that will be dumped in space and likely will create the highest and largest ice cloud known to science since the world began.

Saturn is a prototype of the rockets that will lift teams of men and tons of machinery to the moon later this decade.

French Troops Mass At Oran

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Troop reinforcements began to mass on the outskirts of rebellious Oran Tuesday to break the resistance of the defiant European settlers.

Official sources indicated, however, that it may be some time before Oran commander Gen. Ralph Katz throws his men into action against the city's European quarter held by the terrorist Secret Army Organization (OAS).

French infantrymen seized three tall buildings in the heart of Oran and set up gun positions on rooftops. The move was the first part of a plan to gradually penetrate the city.

Thus far, there has been no secret army reaction to the move. Life continued normally in Oran where about 200,000 Europeans live.

Officials said Gen. Katz believes that the massive presence of troops in Oran would reduce bloodshed in case of a showdown with secret army commandos.

Two Girls, Victims Of Sex Slayer, Found In Icebox

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (AP)—A sex slayer murdered two 6-year-old girls by stuffing them into an unused refrigerator after raping one and punching the other in the jaw, police said Tuesday.

It is definitely a double murder, Police Chief Winfred Slaughter said after investigating what first appeared to be another tragedy of accidental icebox suffocation.

The partly clad victims, found wedged together in the refrigerator in a garage three doors from their own home, were Stephanie Hannä and Paula Cram.

Stephanie was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hanna, in this San Ferando Valley suburb 20 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles. Paula was a foster child who had lived with the Hannas about a month.

As officers and neighbors neared the end of a five-hour search, a hunch by a nearby housewife led to the discovery.

Leonora Greenfield, in whose garage the victims were found, had retired and was trying to sleep. Suddenly her mind connected the girls' disappearance with the refrigerator.

Slaughter and several of his men opened the refrigerator.

Stephanie and Paula lay clutching each other, one atop the other.

A physician said the girls had suffocated. A physician said Paula had been raped, and Stephanie struck by a heavy blow.

Hanna told police he prepared dinner for the girls Monday night because his wife was attending a meeting. They ate and went back out to play. Between 6:30 and 7 he called them; they didn't respond.

Opening Blast Of Series May Come Today

Green Light Given Pacific Task Force To Begin Air Shots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy gave the final go-ahead Tuesday for resumption of U.S. nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere after Russia turned down its last chance to forestall the new series. The first U.S. explosion in 3½ years was expected Wednesday.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) announced that the President had authorized it and the Defense Department to proceed "with a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere over the Pacific" as soon as it was "operationally feasible."

An AEC spokesman said the first weapon could be tested in "a day or a few days" depending on such things as weather conditions. Other officials said they expected the first explosion in the Christmas Island area of the Pacific within a matter of hours.

The tests, dubbed "Operation Dominic," will be conducted by Joint Task Force Eight under the command of Maj. Gen. A. D. Starbird.

The announcement of the new tests came after Soviet negotiators at nuclear test ban talks in Geneva turned down the U.S.-British demand for a foolproof system of international detection and controls to guard against secret tests.

When Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin again rejected the Allied proposal, the stage was set for announcement of the President's go-ahead. Kennedy awaited late into the day for word from Geneva before releasing the U.S. announcement.

Soviets To Test

Earlier in Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told the Soviet parliament that Russia would test "new types" of Soviet nuclear weapons if the United States went ahead. Russia conducted its most recent series only last fall.

The State Department was geared for a wave of criticism of the U.S. tests, despite the fact that it was Russia which launched the new go-round. But the department also hopes for a good measure of support and understanding.

Among countries from which criticism was expected were Japan, India, Egypt and a number of new African states.

Shortly before announcement of the go-ahead, U Thant, acting secretary general of the United Nations, appealed to the atomic powers to refrain from new tests He observed that the General Assembly had taken a clear stand against further test explosions.

Congress Backs President

In Congress, where nearly all members favored the test resumption, Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the House - Senate Atomic Energy Committee, said the President had no alternative but to resume testing.

From Palm Beach, Fla., where the President is spending the week, UPI White House reporter Merriman Smith reported that the President decided to resume testing some time ago when he became convinced Russia had no immediate intention of agreeing to a test ban.

The President set a time by which Russia had to agree to the test ban treaty. That deadline obviously was 5 p.m. EST Tuesday, the hour upon which the Atomic Energy Commission released announcement of his go-ahead order.

Weather conditions appeared favorable for test in the Pacific, according to the best available information.

The National Meteorological Center near Washington said the latest report from the Christmas Island area, at about 1 p.m. EST, showed a three-quarters cloud cover and a light wind. But the clouds were of the cumulus type, known to weathermen as "fair weather" clouds.

Vietnamese Troops, Planes Kill 69 Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—South Vietnamese army troops, backed by air support, killed 69 Communist guerrillas Tuesday in a running battle only 34 miles southwest of Saigon, United States military sources said.

Four companies of special Vietnamese Rangers and Army infantry troops took part in the action, the sources said. A normal infantry company here varies from 100 to 130 men.

No government casualties were reported.

"K" Wants Summit On JFK's Terms

NEW YORK (AP)—An American publisher who talked with Soviet Premier Khrushchev for nearly three hours in a private Kremlin interview last week said Tuesday night the Communist leader wants a second summit conference with President Kennedy—and on Kennedy's terms.

Such a turnabout in Soviet policy was disclosed when Khrushchev said he now agrees with the American President they should meet again only if the encounter can have positive results. Khrushchev added that "we should first reach some agreement on the questions on which our common decision is required now to avoid a conflict and war."

The Soviet premier made the statement at a 2-hour 50-minute interview last Friday with Gardner Cowles, president and editor of Look magazine and president of the Des Moines Register and Tribune Co.

Cowles released the Soviet government's translation of the interview text Tuesday night with a copy of his story being published by Look Magazine.

"My questions had not been submitted to, or discussed with, Soviet officials prior to the meeting," Cowles says in his copyrighted article.

"I agreed that before any disclosure of Mr. Khrushcev's remarks, I would await an approved transcript, which arrived tonight. Although I was received by Mr. Khrushchev as editor of Look magazine, I decided to release the interview to other media because of the immediate pertinence of some of his comments."

In a discussion that ranged from communism's ultimate objectives to current disarmament talks in Geneva, the 68-year-old Russian leader expressed hope that major warfare could be avoided.

But he voiced support for what he called defensive and national-liberation wars. He also made it clear he had little expectation of any quick world disarmament agreement.

Khrushchev told Cowles that he had gained a favorable impression of President Kennedy when he met him in their first personal encounter in Vienna last June.

In a television address to the American public two days after that meeting, Kennedy had said: "I will tell you now that it was a very sober two days."

Girl's Alleged Kidnaper Faces Action In N.J.

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A U. S. commissioner ruled Tuesday there was sufficient evidence in the kidnap case against William T. Kuhlman to warrant hearing by a grand jury.

Commissioner Edward G. Pollard recommended removal of Kuhlman, held here under $5,000 bail, to New Jersey for further proceedings. The government said it would petition U. S. District Court here Wednesday for removal of Kuhlman to New Jersey.

Only FBI agents, attorneys, court clerks and Kuhlman's parents were present at the hearing. The government rested its case after presenting one witness, Mary Ann Soos, 20, Springfield, N. J., whom Kuhlman is accused of kidnapping after a date April 14.

Pollard said Kuhlman told the closed hearing Miss Soos threatened to accuse him of rape if he didn't take her to Baltimore to get married. He claimed she drove part of the way, and at no time made any attempt to get help, the commissioner related in explaining his decision.

Pollard asserted that Miss Soos contends Kuhlman put pills in her coffee, and she didn't awaken until they were in Eastern Pennsylvania, and that Kuhlman threatened to kill her if she tried to get away.

The commissioner said that in view of this conflicting testimony he couldn't resolve the case, and recommended further action be taken in New Jersey.

Kuhlman has been in custody at the New Castle Correctional Institution since his arrest by a Delaware Memorial Bridge policeman in Wilmington April 16.

Also testifying today were two employes of the Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville, Md., where Miss Soos turned up April 16, and said she was being kidnaped.

Joint Japanese-U.S. Space Probe Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The launching of a joint Japan-U.S. space probe rocket was postponed Tuesday because of high winds.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the rocket firing has been reset for 11 a.m. Wednesday at the agency's Wallops Island, Va., station.

The experiment consists of separate Japanese and U.S. probes attached to a Nike-Cajun sounding rocket. It is the first of three scheduled probes of the ionosphere.

Monster Boiler Reaches Plant

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP) — A well-traveled, 36-ton monster finally arrived in Snow Hill Tuesday.

W. T. Onley, operator of a canning plant here, reported the 27-ton boiler and the tractor trailer truck hauling it covered the 18 miles from Salisbury in less than an hour.

That's something of a speed record, because it has taken nearly a week for the rig to get here from Queenstown, about 80 miles north. The trip normally would have taken only a day.

But the driver of the truck ran into trouble about three-quarters of the way across the Choptank River Bridge at Cambridge last week.

The 15-foot 11-inch boiler would not clear the superstructure of the bridge. The driver put the truck in reverse, backed off the bridge and returned to Easton for the weekend.

With a new route designated by the State Roads Commission, the driver resumed the journey Monday and reached Salisbury that evening by way of Preston, Hurlock and Vienna.

Group Seeking Reapportionment In Maryland Files New Motion

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Another legal motion was filed Tuesday in a reapportionment group's efforts to obtain more representation for metropolitan areas in the Maryland Legislature.

The Maryland Committee for Fair representation asked the state Court of Appeals to apply the Supreme Court's ruling on a Michigan case Monday to its own suit, which has been pending in the court here since it was reargued before seven judges last Dec. 12.

The Supreme Court, in reversing a Michigan Supreme Court decision, directed the state court Monday to hear complaints of malapportionment. It had previously ruled in a Tennessee case that federal courts had such jurisdiction.

Alfred L. Scanlan, chief counsel for the committee, said in a supplemental motion mailed to the Maryland court that the state attorney general had "placed heavy reliance on the alleged analogy and supposed precedent furnished by the Supreme Court of Michigan's decision" that it lacked jurisdiction.

"With the Supreme Court's reversal yesterday of that decision, the appellees have been deprived of their last remaining alleged authority on which to rely in opposing the appeal in this case," he said.

Scanlan also noted that the malapportionment challenged in Michigan is of a lesser degree than that in the Maryland legislature. Scanlan said in the Michigan senate, the only body complained of, a metropolitan area resident's vote is outweighed 15 to 1 by a rural resident's compared to 33 to 1 in the Maryland Senate.

Eichmann Receives Spiritual Guidance

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann, condemned former Nazi who refused to swear on a Bible during his trial for the slaughter of six million Jews, is receiving spiritual guidance from a Canadian Protestant missionary, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The adviser is the Rev. William I. Hull of Winnipeg, head of the non - denominational Zion Christian Mission here.

Hull said he has spoken to Eichmann twice, on April 11 and 20, and plans to visit him regularly from now on.

Burns Prove Fatal To 6-Year-Old Girl

The child had suffered second and third degree burns over 90 per cent of her body in the farm fire last Thursday night.

Police said Shirley had been watching her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Ford, burn a mattress and had been warned to stay away from the flames but apparently got too close when her mother returned to the house.

Marine Reserve Unit Will Train In Caribbean

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine reservists of the 13th Infantry Battalion — from Maryland, Virginia and Washington — will fly to the Caribbean Sea on June 30 for two weeks of summer training maneuvers at Vieques Island off Puerto Rico.

It will be the first time in 22 years the infantry reservists have left the continental limits of the country for training.

Lt. Col. Leo Gross, inspector-instructor of the outfit based at the Naval Weapons Plant here, said the men will fly non-stop from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., in Marine transports.

Gross said the men, about 20 per cent of whom are veterans of either World War II or Korea, will live in tents but spend considerable time in field exercises.

They will practice landings with both helicopters and amphibious craft as well as range firing with rifles, machine guns and mortars.

Rapist Spared Gas Chamber

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes spared Tuesday the life of a 24-year-old Baltimore man convicted of raping a woman who witnesses said had a reputation for "easy virtue."

He commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of Donald S. Coby, who was scheduled to die in the Maryland Penitentiary gas chamber the week of May 7.

Coby was one of four men the woman said raped her in a park in Baltimore. He was the only one arrested, identified by the woman and tried. The woman and all the men were Negroes.

Tawes said he felt if the full facts had been before the judge and jury, the sentence would have been less severe.

"In punishing a person for committing the crime of rape, much weight is to be given the general reputation of the individual raped," he said. "My investigation report reveals (the alleged victim) to be a person possessing questionable moral standards or principles. I am not questioning Coby's guilt, but feel that life imprisonment is sufficient punishment for the crime committed by him."

Extra Train Planned

BALTIMORE (AP) — An additional train between New York and Washington will be put on the Pennsylvania Railroad schedule when daylight saving time begins Sunday.

The additional train will leave New York at 8:30 p.m. and will arrive in Washington at 12:20 a.m. The train which now leaves at 9 p.m. will be rescheduled for departure at 9:30 p.m.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Follow These Party Precepts

All etiquette is habit. Even those "party" manners especially designed for social gatherings, must come as second nature to you if you would appear poised and socially mature. Just to revitalize your party precepts, take a run through the following, tagging each with a "yes" or "no";

1. A written invitation may be acknowledged by telephone.

2. It is socially acceptable to arrive about twenty minutes later than designated by the hostess.

3. At a tea or reception, a lady never removes her gloves.

4. Wraps should be removed before joining other guests.

5. It is correct to interrupt a conversation to say hello to someone in the group.

6. If you want to join another group, it is permissible to excuse yourself.

7. You should try to remember the names of everyone you meet.

8. It is correct to refuse all refreshments if you aren't hungry.

9. It doesn't matter how long you stay—as long as you are having fun.

10. You should always write or telephone your thanks to your hostess with in a week after the party.

Answers:

1. No. A written invitation is acknowledged by note—and immediately!

2. No. The hostess has a reason for asking you at a certain time! Promptness is a great social asset.

3. No. Gloves may remain on the hand while shaking hands, but must be removed when eating or drinking.

4. Yes. You always remove your wraps immediately upon arriving.

5. No. Never interrupt! Wait until there is a lull, or until you are included in the conversation.

6. No. Never leave anyone standing alone. Either take him with you or wait until someone else joins you.

7. Yes. And you should be constantly working to improve your memory for names. It's a great help in social and business life.

8. No. Always accept something—unless you are on an enforced diet, in which case, you inform your hostess when you accept the invitation.

9. No. Know when to leave and your hostess will love you forever. One hour is long enough for a tea or reception of any kind.

10. Yes. In recent years, it has become acceptable to telephone your "thank you." But don't wait too long!

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Memo to homemakers: Ease tensions by making space in the day for a loafing break.

If you don't want to loaf the lazy way—doing nothing—just stop the treadmill and change the pace by doing something unrelated to homemaking.

The psychiatrist who wrote the prescription says such breaks in the daily routine will do much to help create tranquility in your home.

Dr. Robert H. Felix, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, doesn't guarantee that the 15 minute change of pace he recommends will solve ALL of the homemaker's problems.

But as a commonsense rule of good living he figures it will ease the homemaker's tensions.

"The change of pace is simply a temporary escape from the routine," he reports. "It can take the form of reading, listening to the radio working on a hobby or some other activity you enjoy."

Dr. Felix notes that the world's most important job—that of homemaker—seems more complicated than it was 50 years ago.

In addition to cherishing her husband, rearing the children and maintaining a well-ordered home, she is expected to be: chauffeur, hostess, volunteer worker in her community and church; and, in many cases, help bring home the bacon by holding a job.

"The complexities of modern living make heavy demands upon the homemaker's time, energy, and peace of mind," Dr. Felix explains. "Most important from the psychiatric point of view, they can cause tension."

He explains that psychiatrists are not against tension — "some degree of tension is a good thing."

"When tension gets out of hand, however, it threatens not only our physical well-being but also our mental health."

"If the commonsense rules of good living, faithfully followed, do not keep the tensions of living within reasonable bounds, a good person to turn to for help is your family physician," the psychiatrist said.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Babies, like everyone else, want to see the world. What better reason for trying to creep? And those first attempts at creeping are adorably awkward, wonderful to behold. Some try it forward, others backward. Still others fancy crabwise creeping. No matter what style your baby selects, the important thing is that he's learning the 3 big C's: Confidence, Co-ordination, Control. Happy new horizons.

•

Girl or boy creepers, sit-abouts or gadabouts, every darling one of them needs protein . . . to help develop strong muscles. Tasty way to give baby extra protein: Gerber High Meat Dinners. These baby-style "casseroles" have 3 times as much meat (and therefore more protein) as regular combination baby dinners. And all this savory meat is subtly blended with garden-good vegetables for bright flavor . . . hearty nourishment.

•

Roaming routine. When baby becomes a "four-walker" you'll really have to keep an eye on your traveler. Good idea to schedule his roaming times when you have some watching time. Say, when you're taking a "breather" or doing some sitdown chores. When you return baby to his play pen, a favorite toy, a snack of Gerber Fruit Juice or a Teething Biscuit will help overcome possible resentment at the confinement.

National Baby Week is here (April 28-May 5). What better time to check your grocer and see how many baby values he has.

•

A word from Dan Gerber. "Our agricultural experts work on a year 'round basis to improve the quality of your baby's food. Take Gerber Green Beans, for example. It took several years of experimentation to develop a superior strain. As a result, the beans we use are tender, succulent and extra-flavorful . . . have less fiber and more flesh . . . and most important, they have a higher nutritive value." Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Follow These Party Precepts

All etiquette is habit. Even those "party" manners especially designed for social gatherings, must come as second nature to you if you would appear poised and socially mature. Just to revitalize your party precepts, take a run through the following, tagging each with a "yes" or "no";

1. A written invitation may be acknowledged by telephone.

2. It is socially acceptable to arrive about twenty minutes later than designated by the hostess.

3. At a tea or reception, a lady never removes her gloves.

4. Wraps should be removed before joining other guests.

5. It is correct to interrupt a conversation to say hello to someone in the group.

6. If you want to join another group, it is permissible to excuse yourself.

7. You should try to remember the names of everyone you meet.

8. It is correct to refuse all refreshments if you aren't hungry.

9. It doesn't matter how long you stay—as long as you are having fun.

10. You should always write or telephone your thanks to your hostess with in a week after the party.

Answers:

1. No. A written invitation is acknowledged by note—and immediately!

2. No. The hostess has a reason for asking you at a certain time! Promptness is a great social asset.

3. No. Gloves may remain on the hand while shaking hands, but must be removed when eating or drinking.

4. Yes. You always remove your wraps immediately upon arriving.

5. No. Never interrupt! Wait until there is a lull, or until you are included in the conversation.

6. No. Never leave anyone standing alone. Either take him with you or wait until someone else joins you.

7. Yes. And you should be constantly working to improve your memory for names. It's a great help in social and business life.

8. No. Always accept something—unless you are on an enforced diet, in which case, you inform your hostess when you accept the invitation.

9. No. Know when to leave and your hostess will love you forever. One hour is long enough for a tea or reception of any kind.

10. Yes. In recent years, it has become acceptable to telephone your "thank you." But don't wait too long!

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Memo to homemakers: Ease tensions by making space in the day for a loafing break.

If you don't want to loaf the lazy way—doing nothing—just stop the treadmill and change the pace by doing something unrelated to homemaking.

The psychiatrist who wrote the prescription says such breaks in the daily routine will do much to help create tranquility in your home.

Dr. Robert H. Felix, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, doesn't guarantee that the 15 minute change of pace he recommends will solve ALL of the homemaker's problems.

But as a commonsense rule of good living he figures it will ease the homemaker's tensions.

"The change of pace is simply a temporary escape from the routine," he reports. "It can take the form of reading, listening to the radio working on a hobby or some other activity you enjoy."

Dr. Felix notes that the world's most important job—that of homemaker—seems more complicated than it was 50 years ago.

In addition to cherishing her husband, rearing the children and maintaining a well-ordered home, she is expected to be: chauffeur, hostess, volunteer worker in her community and church; and, in many cases, help bring home the bacon by holding a job.

"The complexities of modern living make heavy demands upon the homemaker's time, energy, and peace of mind," Dr. Felix explains. "Most important from the psychiatric point of view, they can cause tension."

He explains that psychiatrists are not against tension — "some degree of tension is a good thing."

"When tension gets out of hand, however, it threatens not only our physical well-being but also our mental health."

"If the commonsense rules of good living, faithfully followed, do not keep the tensions of living within reasonable bounds, a good person to turn to for help is your family physician," the psychiatrist said.

Bringing Up Baby

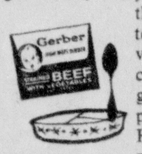
Babies, like everyone else, want to see the world. What better reason for trying to creep? And those first attempts at creeping are adorably awkward, wonderful to behold. Some try it forward, others backward. Still others fancy crabwise creeping. No matter what style your baby selects, the important thing is that he's learning the 3 big C's: Confidence, Co-ordination, Control. Happy new horizons.

Girl or boy creepers, sit-abouts or gadabouts, every darling one of them needs protein . . . to help develop strong muscles. Tasty way to give baby extra protein: Gerber High Meat Dinners. These baby-style "casseroles" have 3 times as much meat (and therefore more protein) as regular combination baby dinners. And all this savory meat is subtly blended with garden-good vegetables for bright flavor . . . hearty nourishment.



Roaming routine. When baby becomes a "four-walker" you'll really have to keep an eye on your traveler. Good idea to schedule his roaming times when you have some watching time. Say, when you're taking a "breather" or doing some sitdown chores. When you return baby to his play pen, a favorite toy, a snack of Gerber Fruit Juice or a Teething Biscuit will help overcome possible resentment at the confinement.

National Baby Week is here (April 28-May 5). What better time to check your grocer and see how many baby values he has.

Motion For New Trial Filed Here

A motion for a new trial for Mrs. Garnette Mae Bennett, 39-year-old local woman who was found guilty last Friday by a jury in Circuit Court for first degree murder of her husband, Moses Sylvester Bennett, 41, last January 31, was filed yesterday in court.

The jurors returned the verdict after deliberating two hours and 20 minutes following three days of testimony and final summations by defense attorneys and the state's attorney's office.

John C. Sullivan, attorney for Mrs. Bennett, stated in his motion the reasons for requesting the new trial for his client. It was stated that the court erred in failing to grant defendant's motion for a mistrial and that the court erred in refusing three defense instructions to the jury.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, Associate Judges W. Earle Cobey and D. Kenneth McLaughlin presided at the trial and they will also sit when the arguments are made on the motion for a new trial. This will probably take place next week, according to Judge Harris.

The trial, one of the most sensational in many years in Circuit Court, attracted overflow crowds on all three days with the majority of the spectators being women.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Bennett remains in custody in the county jail. Except for one instance shortly after the shooting, none of Mrs. Bennett's four children have visited her at the jail. They all testified against her during the trial and State's Attorney James S. Getty commented that it was the first time he ever remembered the children turning against the surviving parent in such cases.

Mrs. Bennett has quieted down at the jail after having been very distraught last Friday afternoon when the verdict was returned by the jurors. She sobbed when the guilty verdict was returned.

Her mother and several friends are the only visitors she has had but the minister of a local church has been at the jail a number of times to console her.

Garrett Damage Suits Removed To Carroll Co.

Seven damage suits totaling $660,000 resulting from a school bus accident on a B&O Railroad Crossing in Garrett County September 10, 1959, have been removed from Garrett County to Carrol County Circuit Court.

Seven died and 26 were injured when the school bus was struck by a train on the crossing between Mt. Lake Park and Lock Lynn Heights.

Five of the suits transferred to Carroll County involve the children of Roy Olin Hinkle of Deer Park including Richard Lynn Hinkle, 11, deceased.

Francis Dixon, infant, by Robert Dixon, father and next friend, of Deer Park, against Leroy Campbell, county school bus operator, and the B&O Railroad;

Margery Olive Byer, infant, by her mother and next friend, Mrs. Margery Byer, Deer Park, against Campbell and the B&O;

James Allan Hinkle, by his father and next friend, Roy O. Hinkle; and Roy O. Hinkle, father, both against Campbell and the B&O;

Patricia Ann Hinkle, infant, by her father and next friend, Roy O. Hinkle; and Roy O. Hinkle, father, both against Campbell and the B&O;

Roy Olin Hinkle Jr., infant, by his father and next friend, Roy O. Hinkle; and Roy O. Hinkle, father, both against Campbell and the B&O;

State of Maryland to use of Norma R. Hinkle and Roy O. Hinkle vs. Otto Droege (engineer), Campbell and the B&O;

The suits charge Campbell stalled the bus on the railroad tracks and failed to open emergency doors. The suits also charge Campbell failed to stay in the bus to prevent panic or to help the children to get out safely.

No date has been set for the trial.

Two other damage suits as the result of the accident were settled about a year ago in Garrett County Circuit Court and the decisions affirmed by Maryland Court of Appeals.

Meanwhile, the trustees of the School Bus Disaster Fund, a voluntary fund set up by public subscription, have filed a petition with Circuit Court to assume jurisdiction over the fund and its distribution.

A hearing on the petition will be held Friday before Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey.

PPG Given Safety Award

The National Safety Council has awarded Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Works Seven, first place in the flat glass industry for their safety achievement in 1961.

The average injury frequency per 1,000,000 manhours in the flat glass industry was 7.34 as against the Works Seven injury frequency of 0.

Works Seven worked 1,490,165 manhours in 1961 without a disabling injury.

"Statistics may be cold and boring unless we realize that in compiling such an enviable record each employee plays a part of prime importance. Individual cooperation in wearing protective equipment, focusing attention on unsafe conditions or acts and "thinking safety" are the vital ingredients that make safety records," responded plant officials upon receiving the award.

"This award," they said, "with its national recognition, is but another testimonial to the earnest endeavors of every PPG employe in Cumberland."

Cancer House Drive Sunday

Allegany County Chapter of the American Cancer Society went into the final few days of its annual fund Crusade yesterday with the expectation of passing last year's total of $13,661.

No goal is set for the campaign held each April and climaxed with a house-to-house canvass the last Sunday of the month.

Robert G. Garner, general campaign chairman, said hundreds of workers will join in the house-to-house canvass over the weekend. In some parts of the city and county, volunteers will begin Friday and Saturday but the major effort will be made Sunday.

Most of the campaign kits have been delivered with all to be in the hands of workers or captains by tomorrow.

Heading Cumberland's house-to-house drive is Mrs. Leslie J. Clark of LaVale. Mrs. Charles H. Langham is the county canvass chairman.

Other chairmen are George Lucas, labor; Dr. J. Michael Glick and Dr. Thomas D. Lewis, medical; Morton Peskin, industry; Herman L. Myers, coin canisters; Albert D. Darby Jr., chairman, and William Rohman, downtown business; Okey Michael, Westernport; Alphonsus (Duck) Byrnes, Lonaconing; and Mr. and Mrs. William Goebel, Frostburg.

Workers making the canvass Sunday are asked to return money collected to their captains who will in turn report the amount to tellers located at the Times-News building.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, president of Allegany Chapter, expressed her appreciation to workers who already have given much of their time to training and planning for the Crusade. She said that in addition to seeking funds, the volunteers have been a great help in bringing the message of the Society to the public, educating it to the seven danger signals and urging physical checkups for early detection.

In a report from one division, Darby said the business section has collected $1,100 with donations ranging from $2 to $100. Response in the downtown area has been lagging, he said, with most of the early returns coming from outside the downtown business area. He urged that those who intend to contribute do so before the end of the week.

SPEAKER — Rev. Richard L. Peterman, associate director for stewardship of the United Lutheran Church in America, will be speaker at the annual Stewardship Congregational Dinner Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in Fellowship Hall of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drug-store. Now available without prescription.

Commissioners Disagree Over Bids For Trucks

A dispute broke out yesterday at the meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners when the advertising for bids on six new trucks for the Roads Department came up.

Commissioner John T. Mason said he wanted to discuss with Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor, some items in the bid which concerned the type of vehicle to be purchased. He said that he feels the trucks are too light for the kind of use they will be subjected to in road work.

Mason pointed out that during snow removal work in the recent winter months a number of trucks broke down and he believes the county should buy heavier equipment.

Commissioner John J. Rowan, who has jurisdiction over the Roads Department, said the specifications for the trucks were gone over by men experienced with such vehicles and that the ones which are being sought are heavier as far as the use of snow plows on the front end are concerned. He also said the trucks which broke down last winter were old and wornout vehicles. Rowan said the new trucks will have four-wheel drive and this will provide the necessary power, and that the front ends will have reinforced type construction to handle snow plows efficiently.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon said he also felt that the Roads Department had given the matter much thought and the specifications were drawn up to meet the requirements of the department's use of the trucks. He seconded a motion to advertise for bids.

The bids will be opened May 15 at 9:30 a.m. (EDT).

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it possible for a person to go several days without getting any sleep at all?

Almost every morning my husband will stumble out of bed and say, "I didn't close my eyes last night. I got absolutely no sleep."

I don't see how this is possible, but he gets very annoyed when I challenge him.

I had an aunt who had real insomnia. But this was quite a different thing. She used to walk around all night and never get into bed. She read everything she could get her hands on, baked pies and cakes, cleaned closets and did petit point. We know she didn't sleep because she accomplished so much at night.

My Husband tosses and turns but he never gets out of bed. Is it possible that he sleeps a few hours and doesn't realize it? Thanks for any information you can give me.—C. W.

DEAR C. W.: Not only is it possible that your husband is getting a few hours sleep every night but its' likely. Even bonafide insomniacs get some shuteye, although often they don't remember and would swear on the family Bible they were up all night.

It serves no purpose to try to persuade such individuals that they slept. People who talk about their sleeplessness are in the same category with those who like to talk about their operations. They enjoy it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married for five years. His first wife died when their son was three months old.

We now have a boy and a girl of our own and are very happy. All three children look like my husband. We have never told the oldest child that I am not his natural mother. Frankly I see no reason to tell him now or ever. Why take the chance of upsetting him emotionally? Also, if his brother and sister knew, perhaps they would feel differently about him.

My husband thinks the boy should be told. I say what people don't know won't hurt them. Do you agree?—NO BOAT ROCKER

DEAR N. B. R.: Your little motto is filled with fish hooks and booby traps. What people don't know often hurts them — and badly.

A child whose natural mother has died should be told his father has remarried. He should be told as soon as he can understand what words mean.

Parents who try to conceal information of this sort do their children an injustice. All too frequently the child learns from an outside source when he is half grown. When this happens the shock can be a devastating one.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our niece attends a college which is a short distance from where we live. We have invited Debbie to spend some weekends with us because most college kids appreciate a break from dorm life. We've tried to make her feel at home but I'm afraid we overdid it.

Debbie was here for a weekend last month. The telephone bill arrived yesterday. It showed two long-distance calls which amounted to $13.30. No one in our family made these calls. They were placed on the days that Debbie was here.

My husband says the amount won't break us and that we should not embarrass her by bringing it up. I am annoyed and feel that she should be handed the bill and given a chance to make it right. What is your opinion?—BURNED

DEAR BURNED: More is involved here than $13.30. If Debbie made these calls she displayed a shocking lack of integrity. By all means discuss it with her. If she made the calls she should pay for them.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead: Jack of ♥

Declarer did not give himself the best chance for success in today's hand because he chose the wrong suit to develop. His failure properly to analyze his prospects led to the loss of a vulnerable game.

North and South conducted a thoro investigation during the auction. The first round of bidding was routine, and South's jump rebid to two no trump was the most direct way to describe his well distributed 19 point holding. North was quite willing to accept his partner's invitation, but in an effort to probe for the best spot he temporized with a bid of three clubs. When South persisted in no trump, North accepted the decision.

West opened the jack of hearts and, in an effort to conserve entries to the dummy, declarer permitted the lead to ride around to his ace. In the hope that the clubs would break evenly he played ace, king and another club. If the suit split 3-3, he planned to take four clubs, three hearts, one spade and at least one diamond.

East won the third round of clubs, but when West showed out declarer's hopes went glimmering. The deuce of diamonds was returned and, in an attempt to salvage something from the wreck, South put in the ten. West won the trick with the jack and shifted back to hearts which restricted declarer to seven tricks.

South had focused his attention on the wrong suit. While both black suits offered the same prospects for success if the adverse cards were evenly divided, there was an additional chance to develop the spades if West held a doubleton Q x or K x, or if either defender held a doubleton K Q.

If declarer at trick two plays ace and another spade, he can't miss. West is in and, if he returns a heart to dummy's king, the jack of spades is led to drive out East's queen. South has now established three spade tricks which, along with three hearts, two clubs, and eventually a diamond, round out the total to the required nine.

Vote Records Protection Discussed By Consultant

Recommendations for the protection of county voting records were made to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by the board's consultant, Henry K. Duke.

The consultant informed the commissioners that the current method of maintaining filing records could lead to the inability to hold a scheduled election should fire "or other peril" destroy the cross-file system of voter registration records.

Duke said that presently the office of the Board of Election Supervisors contains two registration cards for each registered voter, one in an alphabetical arrangement and another in a file by precincts.

These cards are insured against destruction by an inland marine policy, Duke continued, which provides reimbursement in the amount of $1 for each card, or a total of approximately $40,000, if they are destroyed. This policy costs the county approximately $647 for a three-year period.

"In this case," Duke commented, "we do not feel that insurance is the best means of dealing with the risk presented.

"If the registration cards were destroyed after an election, there would be ample time before the next one to have a re-registration and reestablish records, and the insurance would pay the cost . . .

"But no one knows when a fire or other peril might destroy the records, and if this should occur shortly before election day, no election could be held regardless of how much insurance was carried.

"It should be noticed, however, that if either copy of the registration cards were available after a fire, explosion, etc., the election could be held without delay.

Duke opined that such risk could be eliminated, should the cost of fire-resistive safe not be feasible, if the file binders containing registration by precincts be stored in a building separate from the alphabetical listing.

Duke then made three recommendations:

1. If possible, binders containing the registration cards be kept in a fire-resistive safe.

2. If that is not feasible, that the election board be consulted about the possibility of housing the binders in some building other than the Court House.

3. If either of the above plans are feasible, that insurance now carried is not needed. If they are not, the amount of insurance be reduced to $15,000 and the policy be amended to read that it is not in conflict with an "other insurance" clause, a condition that now exists.

The commissioners agreed to meet with Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the Board of Election Supervisors, and with Duke to study the recommendations.

County Backs 'Facelift' Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has issued a statement in which it urges all property owners to cooperate to the fullest in the "Operation Facelift" program which is being sponsored by the Cumberland Rotary Club.

They acted after M. G. Thomas, a member of the Rotary committee handling the program, outlined what is hoped to be accomplished by a general cleanup and renovation of buildings and areas along roads and streets.

Thomas said the main proposal is for a facelifting of highways at the approaches to Cumberland and other county communities. Various groups will be asked to assist in the overall program to provide a much cleaner and neater appearance of the community, Thomas said.

A number of "eyesores" will be picked out through a survey and these will be eliminated, Thomas said. Plans are to have service club signs at the entrance to the various communities concentrated in one spot with the areas being landscaped.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, — Producer Charles Brackett the original believer in Ann - Margaret before the rest of us discovered her on the Oscar show, wants her for "Jewel of India," his next at 20th Century Fox.

It was Brackett who selected the sensational Swedish songbird for her first screen opportunity in "State Fair." Wasn't a big part —but flashy and she made every movement count. He'll even wait for her to finish "Bye Bye Birdie" if she lands the part she's testing for.

"Jewel of India" is about a small - time American circus stranded in Bombay and it would amount to the femme star role for the fast coming-up young beauty.

When Bobby Darin takes off on his "An Evening with Bobby Darin" concert tour, accompanied by Count Basie and His Orchestra, the troupe will travel in two buses equipped with beds, small kitchens and as many of the comforts of home as you can put on wheels.

"It's a short junket just from June 21st through June 30th. The show will be so inexpensive to produce I doubt if I'll make much money on it. But that isn't the point. I think it's important for an actor to do all he can to promote what he has to sell and I have three pictures coming up, 'Hell is for Heroes,' Stanley Kramer's 'Pressure Point' and Ross Hunter's 'If a Man Answers' which I'll do everything to help put over."

A visitor to the "Diamond Head" company, just returned from Honolulu, tells me that the handsome young man visiting Yvette Mimieux in the islands was Evan Eingber, the UCLA instructor, who just happens to be her husband.

I'm still puzzled by how or why she keeps making a secret of Eingber or their marriage. Certainly Yvette's career is on solid ground these days and no one has been ruled out of the course for being married anyway.

Although James Clavell's first novel, "King Rat" won't be published until August, Sol Schwartz of Columbia, has bought it and says it will be one of the company's most important pictures in '63.

Studio believes that not since "Bridge on the River Kwai" has a drama lent itself to such elaborate filming as this story of life in an Asiatic prison camp during World War II. Clavell himself was a prisoner of war in just such a camp for five long years. In the beginning of the book, he writes: "Only the names have been changed to protect the guilty!"

Capucine, who travels so much making her movies she should have travel stickers on her, leaves around May 1st for North Africa to make "Mary Magdalen" for Samuel Bronston. Then she is due in Paris for the same producer's "The French Revolution." This will be the first time Capucine, born in France, will have played in a picture with a French setting and background.

Bronston, himself extremely travel minded, also has on his production schedule, "55 Days at Peking" and "The Fall of the Roman Empire" which just about encircles the globe in locations.

Have greatly enjoyed reading "Power and Purity," by Francis Sedgwick, who is the son of the distinguished biographer and historian, the late Henry Dwight Sedgwick.

It is an exciting novel in the great tradition, about a Wall Street tycoon and his interesting family. The son is caught in the crossfire of his father's power and his mother's purity. I think it would make a wonderful movie. It reminds me in part of "Executive Suite," and also of "Parrish." It is a fine family story — which we need more of!

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

It's a debutante for the Ted Stauffers. The eight-and-a-half-pound girl made her bow at Good Samaritan Hospital and has been named Melinda. Stauffer was once wed to Hedy Lamarr before his marriage to Patricia Morgan, daughter of L.A. banker Emerson Morgan.

Burt Lancaster sails April 27th for Italy where he'll be filming "The Leopard" for five months.

Kathy Crosby, son Harry and daughter Mary Frances have joined Bing at their home in Las Cruces but it will be a short family reunion. Bing's due back this week for a TV show.

Lucille Ball has given up on trying to recover the valuable brooch Gary Morton gave her at the time of their marriage. Thinks it was lost in the sawdust when she rode in the Thalian Circus Benefit.

The night of the big wind, Andy Williams and bride Blaudine Longet, and Stephen Boyd and new girl Mary Markham, blew into the Fogcutter's for dinner. But the ladies spent most of the evening trying to get their hair back in place.

Marlon Brando pulled an ad lib on "The Ugly American." Unable to locate a briefcase from which he was supposed to extract a paper for the scene, Marlon intoned, "Gentlemen, I'm afraid I have been turned into an ambassador without portfolio."

For a girl recovering from a back injury, Dorothy Provine has her work cut out for her. She's making a personal with Hoagy Carmichael at the University of Indiana, then planes to London for a stint at the Palladium before returning to Hollywood for Stanley Kramer's "Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

Blonde Diane McBain and Bob Singer have tied and broken off their long running preoccupation with each other — good news to bachelors who have been trying to get Diane's telephone number for months.

The Art Linkletters and the Ronald Reagans enjoying the decor and the food dining at Quo Vadis.

Ava Gardner catching Louis Nye's shows at the Crescendo two nights running. Ava, going in for hats lately, wore a flowered cloche that had the ladies eye-ing it. The flowers dropped so low over her face you could hardly see her eyes.

Among the visitors on the "Cleopatra" set last week was Federico Fellini who watched a scene between Richard Burton and Martin Landau before offering Landau a role in his next, "Il Buon Vicino." Gina Lollobrigida is the star.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it possible for a person to go several days without getting any sleep at all?

Almost every morning my husband will stumble out of bed and say, "I didn't close my eyes last night. I got absolutely no sleep."

I don't see how this is possible, but he gets very annoyed when I challenge him.

I had an aunt who had real insomnia. But this was quite a different thing. She used to walk around all night and never get into bed. She read everything she could get her hands on, baked pies and cakes, cleaned closets and did petit point. We know she didn't sleep because she accomplished so much at night.

My Husband tosses and turns but he never gets out of bed. Is it possible that he sleeps a few hours and doesn't realize it? Thanks for any information you can give me.—C. W.

DEAR C. W.: Not only is it possible that your husband is getting a few hours sleep every night but its' likely. Even bonafide insomniacs get some shuteye, although often they don't remember and would swear on the family Bible they were up all night.

It serves no purpose to try to persuade such individuals that they slept. People who talk about their sleeplessness are in the same category with those who like to talk about their operations. They enjoy it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married for five years. His first wife died when their son was three months old.

We now have a boy and a girl of our own and are very happy. All three children look like my husband. We have never told the oldest child that I am not his natural mother. Frankly I see no reason to tell him now or ever. Why take the chance of upsetting him emotionally? Also, if his brother and sister knew, perhaps they would feel differently about him.

My husband thinks the boy should be told. I say what people don't know won't hurt them. Do you agree?—NO BOAT ROCKER

DEAR N. B. R.: Your little motto is filled with fish hooks and booby traps. What people don't know often hurts them — and badly.

A child whose natural mother has died should be told his father has remarried. He should be told as soon as he can understand what words mean.

Parents who try to conceal information of this sort do their children an injustice. All too frequently the child learns from an outside source when he is half grown. When this happens the shock can be a devastating one.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our niece attends a college which is a short distance from where we live. We have invited Debbie to spend some weekends with us because most college kids appreciate a break from dorm life. We've tried to make her feel at home but I'm afraid we overdid it.

Debbie was here for a weekend last month. The telephone bill arrived yesterday. It showed two long-distance calls which amounted to $13.30. No one in our family made these calls. They were placed on the days that Debbie was here.

My husband says the amount won't break us and that we should not embarrass her by bringing it up. I am annoyed and feel that she should be handed the bill and given a chance to make it right. What is your opinion?—BURNED

DEAR BURNED: More is involved here than $13.30. If Debbie made these calls she displayed a shocking lack of integrity. By all means discuss it with her. If she made the calls she should pay for them.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead: Jack of ♥

Declarer did not give himself the best chance for success in today's hand because he chose the wrong suit to develop. His failure properly to analyze his prospects led to the loss of a vulnerable game.

North and South conducted a thoro investigation during the auction. The first round of bidding was routine, and South's jump rebid to two no trump was the most direct way to describe his well distributed 19 point holding. North was quite willing to accept his partner's invitation, but in an effort to probe for the best spot he temporized with a bid of three clubs. When South persisted in no trump, North accepted the decision.

West opened the jack of hearts and, in an effort to conserve entries to the dummy, declarer permitted the lead to ride around to his ace. In the hope that the clubs would break evenly he played ace, king and another club. If the suit split 3-3, he planned to take four clubs, three hearts, one spade and at least one diamond.

East won the third round of clubs, but when West showed out declarer's hopes went glimmering. The deuce of diamonds was returned and, in an attempt to salvage something from the wreck, South put in the ten. West won the trick with the jack and shifted back to hearts which restricted declarer to seven tricks.

South had focused his attention on the wrong suit. While both black suits offered the same prospects for success if the adverse cards were evenly divided, there was an additional chance to develop the spades if West held a doubleton Q x or K x, or if either defender held a doubleton K Q.

If declarer at trick two plays ace and another spade, he can't miss. West is in and, if he returns a heart to dummy's king, the jack of spades is led to drive out East's queen. South has now established three spade tricks which, along with three hearts, two clubs, and eventually a diamond, round out the total to the required nine.

Vote Records Protection Discussed By Consultant

Recommendations for the protection of county voting records were made to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by the board's consultant, Henry K. Duke.

The consultant informed the commissioners that the current method of maintaining filing records could lead to the inability to hold a scheduled election should fire "or other peril" destroy the cross-file system of voter registration records.

Duke said that presently the office of the Board of Election Supervisors contains two registration cards for each registered voter, one in an alphabetical arrangement and another in a file by precincts.

These cards are insured against destruction by an inland marine policy, Duke continued, which provides reimbursement in the amount of $1 for each card, or a total of approximately $40,000, if they are destroyed. This policy costs the county approximately $647 for a three-year period.

"In this case," Duke commented, "we do not feel that insurance is the best means of dealing with the risk presented.

"If the registration cards were destroyed after an election, there would be ample time before the next one to have a re-registration and reestablish records, and the insurance would pay the cost . . .

"But no one knows when a fire or other peril might destroy the records, and if this should occur shortly before election day, no election could be held regardless of how much insurance was carried.

"It should be noticed, however, that if either copy of the registration cards were available after a fire, explosion, etc., the election could be held without delay.

Duke opined that such risk could be eliminated, should the cost of fire-resistive safe not be feasible, if the file binders containing registration by precincts be stored in a building separate from the alphabetical listing.

Duke then made three recommendations:

1. If possible, binders containing the registration cards be kept in a fire-resistive safe.

2. If that is not feasible, that the election board be consulted about the possibility of housing the binders in some building other than the Court House.

3. If either of the above plans are feasible, that insurance now carried is not needed. If they are not, the amount of insurance be reduced to $15,000 and the policy be amended to read that it is not in conflict with an "other insurance" clause, a condition that now exists.

The commissioners agreed to meet with Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the Board of Election Supervisors, and with Duke to study the recommendations.

County Backs 'Facelift' Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has issued a statement in which it urges all property owners to cooperate to the fullest in the "Operation Facelift" program which is being sponsored by the Cumberland Rotary Club.

They acted after M. G. Thomas, a member of the Rotary committee handling the program, outlined what is hoped to be accomplished by a general cleanup and renovation of buildings and areas along roads and streets.

Thomas said the main proposal is for a facelifting of highways at the approaches to Cumberland and other county communities. Various groups will be asked to assist in the overall program to provide a much cleaner and neater appearance of the community, Thomas said.

A number of "eyesores" will be picked out through a survey and these will be eliminated, Thomas said. Plans are to have service club signs at the entrance to the various communities concentrated in one spot with the areas being landscaped.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, — Producer Charles Brackett the original believer in Ann - Margaret before the rest of us discovered her on the Oscar show, wants her for "Jewel of India," his next at 20th Century Fox.

It was Brackett who selected the sensational Swedish songbird for her first screen opportunity in "State Fair." Wasn't a big part —but flashy and she made every movement count. He'll even wait for her to finish "Bye Bye Birdie" if she lands the part she's testing for.

"Jewel of India" is about a small - time American circus stranded in Bombay and it would amount to the femme star role for the fast coming-up young beauty.

When Bobby Darin takes off on his "An Evening with Bobby Darin" concert tour, accompanied by Count Basie and His Orchestra, the troupe will travel in two buses equipped with beds, small kitchens and as many of the comforts of home as you can put on wheels.

"It's a short junket just from June 21st through June 30th. The show will be so inexpensive to produce I doubt if I'll make much money on it. But that isn't the point. I think it's important for an actor to do all he can to promote what he has to sell and I have three pictures coming up, 'Hell is for Heroes,' Stanley Kramer's 'Pressure Point' and Ross Hunter's 'If a Man Answers' which I'll do everything to help put over."

A visitor to the "Diamond Head" company, just returned from Honolulu, tells me that the handsome young man visiting Yvette Mimieux in the islands was Evan Eingber, the UCLA instructor, who just happens to be her husband.

I'm still puzzled by how or why she keeps making a secret of Eingber or their marriage. Certainly Yvette's career is on solid ground these days and no one has been ruled off the course for being married anyway.

Although James Clavell's first novel, "King Rat" won't be published until August, Sol Schwartz of Columbia, has bought it and says it will be one of the company's most important pictures in '63.

Studio believes that not since "Bridge on the River Kwai" has a drama lent itself to such elaborate filming as this story of life in an Asiatic prison camp during World War II. Clavell himself was a prisoner of war in just such a camp for five long years. In the beginning of the book, he writes: "Only the names have been changed to protect the guilty!"

Capucine, who travels so much making her movies she should have travel stickers on her, leaves around May 1st for North Africa to make "Mary Magdalen" for Samuel Bronston. Then she is due in Paris for the same producer's "The French Revolution." This will be the first time Capucine, born in France, will have played in a picture with a French setting and background.

Bronston, himself extremely travel minded, also has on his production schedule, "55 Days at Peking" and "The Fall of the Roman Empire" which just about encircles the globe in locations.

Have greatly enjoyed reading "Power and Purity," by Francis Sedgwick, who is the son of the distinguished biographer and historian, the late Henry Dwight Sedgwick.

It is an exciting novel in the great tradition, about a Wall Street tycoon and his interesting family. The son is caught in the crossfire of his father's power and his mother's purity. I think it would make a wonderful movie. It reminds me in part of "Executive Suite," and also of "Parrish." It is a fine family story — which we need more of!

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

It's a debutante for the Ted Stauffers. The eight-and-a-half-pound girl made her bow at Good Samaritan Hospital and has been named Melinda. Stauffer was once wed to Hedy Lamarr before his marriage to Patricia Morgan, daughter of L.A. banker Emerson Morgan.

Burt Lancaster sails April 27th for Italy where he'll be filming "The Leopard" for five months.

Kathy Crosby, son Harry and daughter Mary Frances have joined Bing at their home in Las Cruces but it will be a short family reunion. Bing's due back this week for a TV show.

Lucille Ball has given up on trying to recover the valuable brooch Gary Morton gave her at the time of their marriage. Thinks it was lost in the sawdust when she rode in the Thalian Circus Benefit.

The night of the big wind, Andy Williams and bride Blaudine Longet, and Stephen Boyd and new girl Mary Markham, blew into the Fogcutter's for dinner. But the ladies spent most of the evening trying to get their hair back in place.

Blonde Diane McBain and Bob Singer have tiffed and broken off their long running preoccupation with each other — good news to bachelors who have been trying to get Diane's telephone number for months.

Peach Trees To Be In Bloom Thursday

HANCOCK, Md. (AP) — The peach trees in this area are expected to be in full blossom by Thursday — the latest date in several decades.

R. Samuel Dillon Jr., Hancock grower, said Tuesday that peaches have bloomed as early as March 13 in 1945, and that year most of the peaches were wiped out by a May 6 frost and freeze.

The average date for peaches to be in full bloom during the last few decades was between April 18 and 21.

Packy The Elephant

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The 10-day old baby boy elephant born at the Portland Zoo has been named "Packy".

The name was selected by five judges in a contest sponsored by a local radio station.

Packy, first baby elephant born in this country in 44 years, and its mother, Belle, have been drawing huge crowds to the zoo. A local drive is under way to buy the elephants from their owner, Morgan Berry of Seattle.

LITTLE WOMAN

Deer To Be Moved Away From Orchards

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A plan for moving deer away from the Blue Goose Orchards has been announced by Ernest A. Vaughn, director of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Vaughn said the orchard had presented conclusive evidence that the deer did at least $12,000 of damage to the orchards from Oct. 31, 1962, to April 1 of this year.

Vaughn said the deer would be transported to other areas of the state where there were few deer but plenty of natural foods. Some of the deer will be injected with tranquilizers shot from dart guns.

16 Die In Iran Floods

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The government announced Tuesday that floods last Friday and Saturday caused 16 deaths in south Tehran and in the provinces.

Minuteman Blows Up, Pershing Destroyed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —An Air Force Minuteman "instant ICBM" blew up in the sky Tuesday right after launch — the second failure of the day for the cape's missile test center.

Earlier in the day, the Army's Pershing missile — usually one of the most reliable rockets tested here—ran into trouble and had to be destroyed moments after it was hurled into the sky.

Macmillan Departs Today For JFK Talks

Macmillan, who will address the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in New York on Thursday, will meet with Kennedy at the White House Saturday for a sweeping review of the international scene.

Westvaco Expanding On 2 Continents

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co is scouting South America and Europe for new distributing and manufacturing points in expanding markets, its new president said Tuesday.

David L. Luke III, 39, said no decision has been reached on where new facilities would be located.

He said the locations of new operations in South American countries would depend on governmental stability in the region.

Luke was named president of the firm last month when his father, David L. Luke, was moved up to board chairman.

Both men were in Richmond touring two subsidiaries — the Virginia Folding Box Co. and Hinde & Dauch.

Court Probates Wills Of Five

Five wills have been probated in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Mrs. Lucie Z. Wagner, who was an 80-year-old resident of 933 Bedford Street at the time of her death April 2. She left $3,000 to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, as well as a lot which she owned on Avirett Avenue.

Her nephew, Arthur Hamilton, 6515 40th Avenue, Hyattsville, qualified as executor under a $2,000 bond. After the church bequest all of the rest of her estate is left to Mr. Hamilton and his wife, Elizabeth.

Another will probated was that of Victor Shaw Kalbaugh, who was 83 when he died March 31 at a Keyser nursing home. His son, Victor Edward Kalbaugh, 215 Vine Street, Westernport, qualified as executor of the estate under a $700 bond. His estate was divided among his children under terms of the will dated September 13, 1947.

Also probated was the will of Miss Pearl Shipley, who was 77 and a former resident of 611 Hilltop Drive when she died March 31. The Second National Bank qualified as executor under a $5,000 bond. The will provides for sale of her Hilltop Drive property and division of the proceeds among her brother, Perry J. Shipley, and two sisters, Rhoda G. Ambrose and Ethel L. Deale, under terms of the will dated May 22, 1946.

The will of Mrs. Ada Bernice Collins, who was an 80-year-old resident of Bedford Road at the time of her death March 28, left her entire estate to a daughter, Mrs. Cornelia C. Stump, Bedford Road. Mrs. Stump qualified as executrix under a $200 bond. The will was dated April 21, 1960.

Also probated was the will of Philip August (Fenton) Davis, who was a 52-year-old resident of 29 Prospect Square at the time of his death April 10. Personal belongings such as jewelry and family heirlooms were left to a niece, Rosemary Wilson Kinney. All the rest was left to his friend, Leonie S. Miller, who qualified as executrix under a $1,000 bond. The will was dated five days before his death.

New B&O Treasurer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad announced Tuesday the election of Edward P. Snyder as company treasurer.

The common safety match contains 13 different materials. The head of the match contains potassium chlorate, potassium dichromate, manganese dioxide, sulphur, iron oxide, ground glass and glue. The striking surface contains red phosphorus, antimony sulfide and an abrasive. In addition, the cardboard or wood match is coated with paraffin to give a longer burning period and is impregnated with borox to prevent afterglow.

Elizabethville, the capital of Katanga, has streets literally paved with copper. Pressed-slag paving blocks from nearby mines contain traces of the metal. Unlike many mining boom towns, Elizabethville followed a planned development, with neat houses, inviting shops, shady streets and flower beds.

Peach Trees To Be In Bloom Thursday

HANCOCK, Md. (AP) — The peach trees in this area are expected to be in full blossom by Thursday — the latest date in several decades.

R. Samuel Dillon Jr., Hancock grower, said Tuesday that peaches have bloomed as early as March 13 in 1945, and that year most of the peaches were wiped out by a May 6 frost and freeze.

The average date for peaches to be in full bloom during the last few decades was between April 18 and 21.

Packy The Elephant

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The 10-day old baby boy elephant born at the Portland Zoo has been named "Packy".

The name was selected by five judges in a contest sponsored by a local radio station.

Packy, first baby elephant born in this country in 44 years, and its mother, Belle, have been drawing huge crowds to the zoo. A local drive is under way to buy the elephants from their owner, Morgan Berry of Seattle.

Deer To Be Moved Away From Orchards

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A plan for moving deer away from the Blue Goose Orchards has been announced by Ernest A. Vaughn, director of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Vaughn said the orchard had presented conclusive evidence that the deer did at least $12,000 of damage to the orchards from Oct. 31, 1962, to April 1 of this year.

Vaughn said the deer would be transported to other areas of the state where there were few deer but plenty of natural foods. Some of the deer will be injected with tranquilizers shot from dart guns.

Westvaco Expanding On 2 Continents

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. is scouting South America and Europe for new distributing and manufacturing points in expanding markets, its new president said Tuesday.

David L. Luke III, 39, said no decision has been reached on where new facilities would be located.

He said the locations of new operations in South American countries would depend on governmental stability in the region.

Luke was named president of the firm last month when his father, David L. Luke, was moved up to board chairman.

Both men were in Richmond touring two subsidiaries — the Virginia Folding Box Co. and Hinde & Dauch.

Kennedy May Face Unpleasant Sequel

If the industry is persuaded it cannot raise prices regardless of costs it's going to be careful about granting any more concessions to the union. What's true of steel will be true also of every other industry caught in the tightening cost-price squeeze.

Therefore management may be expected to take a hard-boiled attitude toward next year's bargaining sessions. Some industries already are being reduced to the point where strikes will seem preferable to a further round of uncompensated cost increases.

Thus the President and his secretary of labor will have their work cut out as a result of their successful present effort to hold the lid on steel prices. Employers convinced they no longer can pass along increased employment costs will have no alternative except to resist all further wage demands.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Republicans And Kennedy

Up to that press conference on steel prices, it could be said that the principal opposition to President Kennedy came from Democrats on special issues. On the whole, the Republicans took to the President and tended to avoid opposing him and his program.

One reason for this attitude was that, except for Senator Barry Goldwater, the Republicans lacked effective leadership, neither Dwight D. Eisenhower, Richard Nixon nor Nelson Rockefeller offering anything that stirs men's hearts. Also, the nature of the Cold War requires sincere national unity and Senator Everett Dirksen provides every evidence of that.

President Kennedy was achieving a unity perhaps not known since the era of good-will of the Monroe Administration. The public was weary of the trickiness of the Roosevelt Administration, the blatancy of the Truman Administration, the emptiness of the Eisenhower Administration. The Kennedys presented a picture of imagination, charm, enthusiasm, which captured the sympathy of the largest part of the country, although many Republicans had their fingers crossed.

This is, after all, a two party system even if one of the parties has been left headless. The President's furious response to steel's price rise won him an immediate victory, but it gave the Republican Party what it lacked, an issue. The issue is the rights of private property. After all, the U.S. Steel Corporation is not owned by one man or even controlled by one person. It is owned by about 300,000 persons and institutions, some of them very wealthy, others possessing few shekels. The President's anger with the ineptness of management was perhaps justified, although it would have been better had the President used a rapier instead of a sledge-hammer. The Republicans will say that the President opposes the profit and loss system. What is his substitute?

An elderly reader from West Springfield, Pennsylvania, writes me, in obvious distress:

"We boast about the 'Land of the Free.' What freedom have we left? I suppose we will wear meters on our noses and pay for the air we breathe before long."

The writer of this letter says that he and his wife are in the 80's, which does not make them old fogies any more than the young men about the President are children, and each has only one vote on Election Day when an opinion may be expressed in a manner that counts.

President Kennedy must take reparative steps to win back that popular unity which so strengthened his position in his European negotiations. A foreign official, wise in such matters, asked me smilingly what I would think of it all if I were in the Kremlin waiting for my chance as a cat watches a mouse? The simile was apt. The Russians play for time—time when the United States seems to be soft or disturbed.

It is sound politics for the United States to keep its distress behind closed doors, as when a husband and wife quarrel. In public, it is always unseemly; in private, it may lead to reconciliation and even heightened affection. The Republicans went along with Kennedy because, in the circumstance, there was nowhere else to go. Now, the Republicans have elsewhere to go, namely, to the support of private enterprise as an ideal of life.

My guess would be that such excitements as may be caused by Senator Estes Kefauver will not go far. It is impossible to produce steel efficiently except by the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars. At a time like the present, it is as ridiculous to disrupt the steel industry as it was for U.S. Steel to ignore the President's efforts to arrest inflation by such methods as his economic advisers recommended.

The Republicans face the problem of mobilizing public opinion in support of a program and a leadership. This party cannot find public support on the issues of the 1930's or even the 1950's. A new generation of voters view many problems from altogether a different standpoint than their elders did. The eventual strength of the Republicans may come out of the South and the Southwest where new populations are developing. This will take more time to appear than many Republicans believe. It will indeed be difficult for politicians who since the organization of their party have been favorably disposed to political equality for Negroes. They cannot deny this heritage to prove their opposition to President Kennedy.

Harriman Plays Role Of 'Mad Hatter' In Laos

By Joseph Alsop

VIENTIANE, Laos.

The best way to understand the present stage of American policy in this distracted little country is to remember the worst moment of the Mad Hatter's tea party in "Alice." This, beyond doubt, was the moment when the Mad Hatter rather crossly tried to stuff the dormouse into the teapot.

The role of the Mad Hatter is being played, with considerable panache, by the Assistant Secretary of State for the East, Gov. Averell Harriman. The dormouse in this peculiar charade is the Laotian anti-Communist leader, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. And as in "Alice," the dormouse has refused to be stuffed—at least as yet.

It is not all so comic, however. Consider, for example, Gov. Harriman's last descent on Laos, which was intended to stuff the dormouse into the teapot by main force.

At a meeting with all the leaders of the present anti-Communist government, Gov. Harriman explained the salubrious character of the teapot in question. This is a neutral coalition government which the Governor desires to form, with the "neutralist," Prince Souvanna Phouma, at its head, with Laotian Communists included in the cabinet, and with the anti-Communists also included—but only and above all after the anti-Communists have surrendered their vital control of both the army and the police.

After expatiating on the teapot, Gov. Harriman gave a preliminary shove. The economic subsidy of $3 million a month, which the United States has long paid to Laos, was suspended some time ago as a pressure move. This has already caused inflation here. But other pressure moves were easily possible, the Governor reminded the Laotian cabinet, thus hinting at future suspension of military aid as well.

Gov. Harriman then looked at the Laotian leaders one by one; pointed a stern forefinger at each of them in turn; and told them that he wished them to know they would be be "responsible for the destruction of their country" if they refused to do his bidding. There was a brief silence, and Gen. Phoumi then replied:

"You know, Gov. Harriman, we in Laos have many years' experience of colonial rule. But we were never spoken to in quite the fashion in the colonial times."

It can be seen, then, that rather passionate feelings have by now been generated on both sides. Yet the American policy here most urgently needs cool, dispassionate re-examination.

The existing policy was somewhat hastily adopted at the low ebb of the Kennedy administration, just after the Cuban debacle. The aim was to secure a strictly neutral Laos, with no North Vietnamese Communist troops on Laotian soil, and with the North Vietnamese blocked from using Laos as a transit route for its attack on South Vietnam.

At Geneva last spring, with his customary industry and ability, Gov. Harriman negotiated an agreement with the Soviets which on paper, at least, promised the desired neutral Laos. All the requirements for strict Laotian neutrality were to be met, as soon as a coalition, all-party government could be installed with Prince Souvanna Phouma at its head. The Chinese and North Vietnamese delegates at Geneva gave their assent; and the Soviet delegate made important personal commitments to Gov. Harriman.

At this stage, last summer, the agreement that Gov. Harriman had negotiated looked like the best American bet in Laos, even though it was obviously a long shot bet. Any contraption basically depending on Communist good faith must always be a long shot bet. But its real flaw was its dependence on stuffing the dormouse into the teapot.

Prince Boun Oum, the Prime Minister, and Gen. Phoumi, the real leader of the anti-Communist government, never felt enthusiasm for the coalition teapot. But they would have entered, nonetheless, if the price of the coalition had not been their surrendering control of the police and the army. Such a surrender, they understandably considered, was tantamount to cutting their own throats with a blunt knife.

For just this reason, despite month after month of maneuvering and mounting pressure, the dormouse has obstinately refused to be stuffed. Meanwhile, the passage of time and changing circumstances have transformed what used to be a reasonable long shot bet into a totally indefensible gamble.

A Chinese Communist general, thinly disguised as a consul-general, has turned up in the northern province of Phong Saly, at the head of a division of Chinese troops rather better disguised as road builders. The Communist North Vietnamese have been pushing in troops, until they now have between 12,000 and 14,000 soldiers in Laos, of which half are in regular army battalions. The transit routes to South Vietnam, which were supposed to be abandoned, have been persistently used and improved.

For these and many other reasons, if the Laotian anti-Communists are now driven, by main force, into the coalition that has been so eagerly promoted, it will be equivalent to handing Laos to the North Vietnamese with a red ribbon prettily tied around it. No doubt this can be done, by withdrawing U. S. military aid for instance, which Gov. Harriman apparently told the British Ambassador here that he intended to recommend. But it is certainly time to stop and think again.

ATOM TESTS—Some diplomats assigned to Washington and some political leaders on Capitol Hill are expressing concern, privately, over the great lengths to which British and U. S. government heads are going to try to reach an atom test ban with Russia.

Their feeling is that U. S. atmospheric tests are necessary, if for no other reason than to re-assert to the rest of the world that America still leads in atomic weapons development, despite the long series of Soviet tests.

They fear that some nations—particularly the newly-emerging ones in Africa—may erroneously conclude that the wave of the atomic future lies with Russia and be tempted to align themselves with the Soviet bloc.

They believe, too, that U. S. testing is the only adequate answer to Russia in the realm of cold war maneuverings—that Russia herself must be re-convinced of American technical know-how in the area of atom weapons.

President Kennedy, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and their top advisors, on the other hand, believe every public effort must be made to avoid a new round of atomic testing, although they are obviously far from convinced that Russia will accede to any agreement on this score.

In fact, some of the top U. S. advisors are convinced of the opposite, that Russia is maneuvering the Western Powers into a position where they must resume testing to give the Soviets the excuse they need to start still another series of tests.

Russia got a lot of propaganda mileage out of the last test series and would like to get some more. And, in the vital field of weapons development, Russia started behind and therefore has more to gain that the west from extensive testing.

Two Arkansans Have Different Views On Big Business Profits

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—On one side of the Capitol last week, a Senator from Arkansas was exposing the profiteering of a group of defense contractors headed by the giant American Telephone and Telegraph monopoly. On the other side of the Capitol, another solon from Arkansas was pushing to give one of the most unusual contracts in history largely to the same American Tel and Tel.

The Senator from Arkansas was John McClellan of Little Rock. He exposed the pyramiding of profits by Western Electric, wholly owned AT&T subsidiary, in the construction of Nike missile launcher loaders. AT&T, with its subsidiaries, Bell and Western Electric, is one of the three biggest defense contractors; yet Senator McClellan exposed it as guilty of charging exorbitant profits to the American taxpayer.

The other Arkansan is Congressman Oren Harris of El Dorado, Chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, who just before Easter pushed his committee to approve a setup where AT&T would dominate the new communications satellite that will project radio, TV, and telephone messages all over the world.

Harris was afraid Senate opposition to this giveaway by Kefauver (Tenn.), Morse (Ore.), and Yarborough (Tex.), all Democrats, would delay the bill, so he put on extra speed to rush it through his committee before Easter.

Business Opposition To AT&T

Significantly, much of the opposition to AT&T's having major control of the satellite comes from other business firms, including Western Union and the Radio Corporation of America. They have had experience with the giant phone monopoly which is 10 times bigger than Pacific Gas and Electric, the next biggest utility. Here are some of the experiences of other business groups with AT&T:

Experience No. 1—AT&T tried to get 76 megacycles of the mobile radio spectrum for telephones in passenger cars. FCC hearings, however, showed that only 17,000 private individuals used mobile phones, while the needs of taxis and trucking firms was far greater. What AT&T really wanted was to invade truck and taxi communications.

Experience No. 2—In 1959, AT&T took on the railroads by serving notice that the telephone company would make no connections from railroad-track phone lines which the railroads operate, to offices away from railroad lines—unless the railroads leased AT&T's new modern microwave phones. The railroads charged this was monopolistic pressure.

Experience No. 3—AT&T will not permit another American communications company, operating a radio or telephone abroad to make a hook-up over AT&T lines in the United States. The British or Soviet government, or any foreign telephone company, can use AT&T lines from New York to any place in the USA. It's a simple matter to make the connection. But American companies are barred by the big telephone monopoly from this connection.

Experience No. 4—AT&T has a complete monopoly on TV and radio hook-ups in the United States. It supples the lines linking all networks. It can also hold up new stations from coming on the air by delay. Some stations pay an expediting fee of anywhere from $3,500 to $17,000 to hurry these hook-ups.

Experience No. 5—The FCC, which is supposed to regulate the phone monopoly, let Docket 8963, calling for a probe of phone rates, gather dust for five years.

Senate Line-Up

This week the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee starts hearings on whether AT&T will get the major control of the new communications satellite, developed with several billions of the taxpayers money.

Sen. John Pastore, Rhode Island Democrat, has been the eagerest eager beaver to push through the bill. All Republicans—including Butler (Md.), Cotton (N. H.), Case (N. J.), Morton (Ky.), and Scott (Pa.), are reported favoring AT&T.

Of the committee Democrats, Smathers (Fla.), Thurmond (S. C.), and Lausche (Ohio) are reported favoring AT&T. Yarborough of Texas is opposed, Mike Monroney, who usually votes again monopoly, is reported influenced by his Oklahoma colleague, Bob Kerr, who is the most vigorous AT&T champion in the Senate. Engle of California has been sliding more and more toward the side of big business; likewise Hartke of Indiana.

McGee of Wyoming and Bartlett of Alaska, who usually side against monopoly, are under pressure from the telephone lobby. Chairman Magnuson has been too busy with the Seattle World's Fair, which he largely inspired, to give much consideration to the matter.

Under The Dome

President Kennedy who has appointed some very mediocre men to the Federal Power Commission, is coming up with an A-1 appointee as FPC counsel—Richard A. Sullivan. . . Justice Felix Frankfurter, now 79, is much sicker than officially announced. He will not be back at this term of the Supreme Court, may not be able to return in the fall. He still is stubbornly opposed to the idea of retirement. . . Secretary of the Army Elvis Stahr, once President of the West Virginia University, will become President of the Indiana University if the trustees offer him the post. They have talked to him about the job.

Jim Bishop· Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Hon. John F. Kennedy,
Executive Mansion,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

The big coastal storm of six weeks ago is gone. The sea is again quiet and the green combers come in high and slow, with white crests. Along the beaches, men stack the splintered wood from once beautiful homes and burn it. The apostrophes of black smoke against the pale blue sky are an exclamation of surprise at man's stupidity in his fight against nature.

After the last one, you allocated $10,000,000 in Federal disaster-relief funds to the State of New Jersey. Little Jersey, it seems, was hardest hit. This is my state. It is a measure of the intensity of the storm that pictures of homes being swept out to sea were published on page one of the Hong Kong Times and Tokyo Yomiyuri. The newspapers on the other side of the world said it was the worst coastal storm in history.

I live on the beach, Mr. President. My house, except for two broken cellar windows and some rain on books, is all right. I mention this to show that this letter is not a personal whimper for help. There is only one small town along the entire American coastline which can be classified as a permanent disaster area.

That's my town. Sea Bright, N. J. Geographically, Sea Bright is the second knuckle on a 12-mile finger of land called Sandy Hook. Where I live, the distance between the sea beyond the front lawn, and the Shrewsbury River in the back yard is 224 feet 8 inches. A little more than 1,000 people live here all year around. In the summer, the cottages and hotels accommodate 5,000 more.

Every storm — even the mild ones — which comes in from the sea, shakes Sea Bright to its heels, shifts the sand into the main street, splits the sea wall, and floods homes. A mile to the north, the United States First Army has a Nike base on Sandy Hook. Federal funds protect their beaches so that officers and their families may bathe in the warm months, but the only assistance they can give to the people of Sea Bright is to wait for the next storm and then send an amphibious duck to "rescue" the women and children and deposit them inland.

The commanding officer of the First Army, which controls this area through its engineering section, is Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson. The army has a veto over what Sea Bright does because this is a military zone. I would like to invite him to spend the next storm as my guest.

The New Jersey Department of Economic Conservation asked you for $30,000,000 in Federal aid after the last blow. You gave them 10. You have a right to ask how much of this will be spent in Sea Bright. I haven't. I'm only a citizen. The extent of their aid so far is to hold a finger in the dike, when someone lends them a finger.

Now, a new man is in the act. His name is Albert D. O'Connor and he is regional director of the Office of Emergency Planning. He is part of your administration, Mr. President. Want to know what his first order is? He directed the Army Engineers to restore the sand dunes along our beach front.

This is great, and we appreciate it, but we have no dunes. We have an 11-foot sea wall. Outside the wall there is no beach. Just big waves which smack the wall. We need stone jetties. They trap sand and build a deep beach and keep the sea away from the wall. The Army Engineers may put dunes where there haven't been any for 40 years, but the first easterly wind will throw the dunes into Ocean Avenue overnight.

When I was a young reporter, the city editor always assigned a photographer to go to Sea Bright when a storm broke. The little town was always good for a catastrophic photo of floating bungalows and cars and sofas. It hasn't changed.

The only thing New Jersey has done is to put concrete between the huge stones of the wall. My younger daughter, Gayle, watched this and said: "Dad, won't the sea crack that concrete?" I said: "You have just passed your first test in engineering." When the next storm arrived, we made color movies of the sea cracking the concrete.

Sea Bright is a beautiful village on the edge of the sea, Mr. President. Its problems are too small for a man who is striving, day and night, to keep the world at peace. But as long as you're giving $10,000,000, may I ask how much of it will be used for stone jetties to keep the people of this town from floating out to sea?

This is the only place in the world which was afraid to buy a copy of Gone With the Wind . . .

Sincerely, J. B.

Skin And Nervous System Closely Related

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How can nerves cause a skin rash (neurodermatitis)? This is not difficult to explain because of the close relationship between the skin and the nervous system. Blushing, red blotches, blanching, and goose flesh are examples of a normal, healthy response to emotional stimulation. The same can be said about itching when the conversation veers toward lice or bedbugs.

Psychiatrists tell us that repressed emotions must seek some outlet and neurodermatitis represents the outward manifestation of the release of stress.

This may or may not be correct but helps to explain the outbreak that developes occasionally during periods of frustration or when we have feelings of inferiority or need love. Other psychiatrists have matched specific lesions with certain patterns of personality.

Most physicians agree that some skin diseases are induced by anxiety and other emotional factors and that these upsets can aggravate an existing dermatitis.

We know also there are hundreds of different skin conditions that are unrelated to the nervous system.

On the other hand, it is natural to be disturbed when pimples or blotches mar the appearance and it is not always easy to determine whether the nervousness came first or the eruption developed initially and upset the individual emotionally.

Additional research may change our concepts. Lesions traditionally attributed to stress have been observed in persons who are as cool as a cucumber as well as in men and women who have so little intelligence it is doubtful whether they can become emotionally disturbed.

Some day we will understand more fully what the skin is trying to tell us.

VOCAL CORD PARALYSIS

M. S. writes: Because my speech became hoarse and changeable, I went to a throat man. He said I have a slight paralysis of the left vocal cord, which would disappear probably as it came. Please write something about this condition.

REPLY

The vocal cords are muscles controlled by nerves. Anything that affects the nerves, such as neuritis or a small stroke, may lead to paralysis. I assume your physician knows the cause because he said the outlook is favorable.

SINK SHAMPOO

E. S. writes: Is there any reason why hair can't be shampooed in the kitchen sink? I have been told it should not be done as human hair contains germs.

REPLY

If you can clean a chicken or a head of lettuce, wash the dog's bowl, or rinse your hands in the kitchen sink, there is no reason why you can't shampoo the hair. The objections are mainly esthetic.

SWOLLEN THYROID

H. C. C. writes: I have a swelling of the thyroid 1½ inches long and ½ inch out. My doctor is watching it. Is there any danger of malignancy.

REPLY

Yes, but it is remote when the entire gland is enlarged. The chance of cancer is greater when a tumor or growth protrudes from the gland.

SNOW BLINDNESS

E. R. writes: Is there such a thing as snow blindness?

REPLY

Yes. The sun's rays are reflected from the snow and burn the delicate tissues of the eyes, including the retina.

TOMORROW: The mechanism of aging.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Kennedy May Face Unpleasant Sequel

If the industry is persuaded it cannot raise prices regardless of costs it's going to be careful about granting any more concessions to the union. What's true of steel will be true also of every other industry caught in the tightening cost-price squeeze.

Therefore management may be expected to take a hard-boiled attitude toward next year's bargaining sessions. Some industries already are being reduced to the point where strikes will seem preferable to a further round of uncompensated cost increases.

Thus the President and his secretary of labor will have their work cut out as a result of their successful present effort to hold the lid on steel prices. Employers convinced they no longer can pass along increased employment costs will have no alternative except to resist all further wage demands.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Republicans And Kennedy

Up to that press conference on steel prices, it could be said that the principal opposition to President Kennedy came from Democrats on special issues. On the whole, the Republicans took to the President and tended to avoid opposing him and his program.

One reason for this attitude was that, except for Senator Barry Goldwater, the Republicans lacked effective leadership, neither Dwight D. Eisenhower, Richard Nixon nor Nelson Rockefeller offering anything that stirs men's hearts. Also, the nature of the Cold War requires sincere national unity and Senator Everett Dirksen provides every evidence of that.

President Kennedy was achieving a unity perhaps not known since the era of good-will of the Monroe Administration. The public was weary of the trickiness of the Roosevelt Administration, the blatancy of the Truman Administration, the emptiness of the Eisenhower Administration. The Kennedys presented a picture of imagination, charm, enthusiasm, which captured the sympathy of the largest part of the country, although many Republicans had their fingers crossed.

This is, after all, a two party system even if one of the parties has been left headless. The President's furious response to steel's price rise won him an immediate victory, but it gave the Republican Party what it lacked, an issue. The issue is the rights of private property. After all, the U.S. Steel Corporation is not owned by one man or even controlled by one person. It is owned by about 300,000 persons and institutions, some of them very wealthy, others possessing few shekels. The President's anger with the ineptness of management was perhaps justified, although it would have been better had the President used a rapier instead of a sledge-hammer. The Republicans will say that the President opposes the profit and loss system. What is his substitute?

An elderly reader from West Springfield, Pennsylvania, writes me, in obvious distress:

"We boast about the 'Land of the Free.' What freedom have we left? I suppose we will wear meters on our noses and pay for the air we breathe before long."

The writer of this letter says that he and his wife are in the 80's, which does not make them old fogies any more than the young men about the President are children, and each has only one vote on Election Day when an opinion may be expressed in a manner that counts.

President Kennedy must take reparative steps to win back that popular unity which so strengthened his position in his European negotiations. A foreign official, wise in such matters, asked me smilingly what I would think of it all if I were in the Kremlin waiting for my chance as a cat watches a mouse? The simile was apt. The Russians play for time—time when the United States seems to be soft or disturbed.

It is sound politics for the United States to keep its distress behind closed doors, as when a husband and wife quarrel. In public, it is always unseemly; in private, it may lead to reconciliation and even heightened affection. The Republicans went along with Kennedy because, in the circumstance, there was nowhere else to go. Now, the Republicans have elsewhere to go, namely, to the support of private enterprise as an ideal of life.

My guess would be that such excitements as may be caused by Senator Estes Kefauver will not go far. It is impossible to produce steel efficiently except by the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars. At a time like the present, it is as ridiculous to disrupt the steel industry as it was for U.S. Steel to ignore the President's efforts to arrest inflation by such methods as his economic advisers recommended.

The Republicans face the problem of mobilizing public opinion in support of a program and a leadership. This party cannot find public support on the issues of the 1930's or even the 1950's. Russia got a lot of propaganda mileage out of the last test series and would like to get some more. And, in the vital field of weapons development, Russia started behind and therefore has more to gain that the west from extensive testing.

Two Arkansans Have Different Views On Big Business Profits

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—On one side of the Capitol last week, a Senator from Arkansas was exposing the profiteering of a group of defense contractors headed by the giant American Telephone and Telegraph monopoly. On the other side of the Capitol, another solon from Arkansas was pushing to give one of the most unusual contracts in history largely to the same American Tel and Tel.

The Senator from Arkansas was John McClellan of Little Rock. He exposed the pyramiding of profits by Western Electric, wholly owned AT&T subsidiary, in the construction of Nike missile launcher loaders. AT&T, with its subsidiaries, Bell and Western Electric, is one of the three biggest defense contractors; yet Senator McClellan exposed it as guilty of charging exorbitant profits to the American taxpayer.

The other Arkansan is Congressman Oren Harris of El Dorado, Chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, who just before Easter pushed his committee to approve a setup where AT&T would dominate the new communications satellite that will project radio, TV, and telephone messages all over the world.

Harris was afraid Senate opposition to this giveaway by Kefauver (Tenn.), Morse (Ore.), and Yarborough (Tex.), all Democrats, would delay the bill, so he put on extra speed to rush it through his committee before Easter.

Business Opposition To AT&T

Significantly, much of the opposition to AT&T's having major control of the satellite comes from other business firms, including Western Union and the Radio Corporation of America. They have had experience with the giant phone monopoly which is 10 times bigger than Pacific Gas and Electric, the next biggest utility. Here are some of the experiences of other business groups with AT&T:

Experience No. 1—AT&T tried to get 76 megacycles of the mobile radio spectrum for telephones in passenger cars. FCC hearings, however, showed that only 17,000 private individuals used mobile phones, while the needs of taxis and trucking firms was far greater. What AT&T really wanted was to invade truck and taxi communications.

Experience No. 2—In 1959, AT&T took on the railroads by serving notice that the telephone company would make no connections from railroad-track phone lines which the railroads operate, to offices away from railroad lines—unless the railroads leased AT&T's new modern microwave phones. The railroads charged this was monopolistic pressure.

Experience No. 3—AT&T will not permit another American communications company, operating a radio or telephone abroad to make a hook-up over AT&T lines in the United States. The British or Soviet government, or any foreign telephone company, can use AT&T lines from New York to any place in the USA. It's a simple matter to make the connection. But American companies are barred by the big telephone monopoly from this connection.

Experience No. 4—AT&T has a complete monopoly on TV and radio hook-ups in the United States. It supplies the lines linking all networks. It can also hold up new stations from coming on the air by delay. Some stations pay an expediting fee of anywhere from $3,500 to $17,000 to hurry these hook-ups.

Experience No. 5—The FCC, which is supposed to regulate the phone monopoly, let Docket 8963, calling for a probe of phone rates, gather dust for five years.

Senate Line-Up

This week the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee starts hearings on whether AT&T will get the major control of the new communications satellite, developed with several billions of the taxpayers money.

Sen. John Pastore, Rhode Island Democrat, has been the eagerest eager beaver to push through the bill. All Republicans—including Butler (Md.), Cotton (N. H.), Case (N. J.), Morton (Ky.), and Scott (Pa.), are reported favoring AT&T.

Of the committee Democrats, Smathers (Fla.), Thurmond (S. C.), and Lausche (Ohio) are reported favoring AT&T. Yarborough of Texas is opposed, Mike Monroney, who usually votes again monopoly, is reported influenced by his Oklahoma colleague, Bob Kerr, who is the most vigorous AT&T champion in the Senate. Engle of California has been sliding more and more toward the side of big business; likewise Hartke of Indiana.

McGee of Wyoming and Bartlett of Alaska, who usually side against monopoly, are under pressure from the telephone lobby. Chairman Magnuson has been too busy with the Seattle World's Fair, which he largely inspired, to give much consideration to the matter.

Under The Dome

President Kennedy who has appointed some very mediocre men to the Federal Power Commission, is coming up with an A-1 appointee as FPC counsel—Richard A. Sullivan. . . Justice Felix Frankfurter, now 79, is much sicker than officially announced. He will not be back at this term of the Supreme Court, may not be able to return in the fall. He still is stubbornly opposed to the idea of retirement. . . Secretary of the Army Elvis Stahr, once President of the West Virginia University, will become President of the Indiana University if the trustees offer him the post. They have talked to him about the job.

Jim Bishop· Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Hon. John F. Kennedy,
Executive Mansion,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

The big coastal storm of six weeks ago is gone. The sea is again quiet and the green combers come in high and slow, with white crests. Along the beaches, men stack the splintered wood from once beautiful homes and burn it. The apostrophes of black smoke against the pale blue sky are an exclamation of surprise at man's stupidity in his fight against nature.

After the last one, you allocated $10,000,000 in Federal disaster-relief funds to the State of New Jersey. Little Jersey, it seems, was hardest hit. This is my state. It is a measure of the intensity of the storm that pictures of homes being swept out to sea were published on page one of the Hong Kong Times and Tokyo Yomiyuri. The newspapers on the other side of the world said it was the worst coastal storm in history.

I live on the beach, Mr. President. My house, except for two broken cellar windows and some rain on books, is all right. I mention this to show that this letter is not a personal whimper for help. There is only one small town along the entire American coastline which can be classified as a permanent disaster area.

That's my town. Sea Bright, N. J. Geographically, Sea Bright is the second knuckle on a 12-mile finger of land called Sandy Hook. Where I live, the distance between the sea beyond the front lawn, and the Shrewsbury River in the back yard is 224 feet 8 inches. A little more than 1,000 people live here all year around. In the summer, the cottages and hotels accommodate 5,000 more.

Every storm — even the mild ones — which comes in from the sea, shakes Sea Bright to its heels, shifts the sand into the main street, splits the sea wall, and floods homes. A mile to the north, the United States First Army has a Nike base on Sandy Hook. Federal funds protect their beaches so that officers and their families may bathe in the warm months, but the only assistance they can give to the people of Sea Bright is to wait for the next storm and then send an amphibious duck to "rescue" the women and children and deposit them inland.

The commanding officer of the First Army, which controls this area through its engineering section, is Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson. The army has a veto over what Sea Bright does because this is a military zone. I would like to invite him to spend the next storm as my guest.

The New Jersey Department of Economic Conservation asked you for $30,000,000 in Federal aid after the last blow. You gave them 10. You have a right to ask how much of this will be spent in Sea Bright. I haven't. I'm only a citizen. The extent of their aid so far is to hold a finger in the dike, when someone lends them a finger.

Now, a new man is in the act. His name is Albert D. O'Connor and he is regional director of the Office of Emergency Planning. He is part of your administration, Mr. President. Want to know what his first order is? He directed the Army Engineers to restore the sand dunes along our beach front.

This is great, and we appreciate it, but we have no dunes. We have an 11-foot sea wall. Outside the wall there is no beach. Just big waves which smack the wall. We need stone jetties. They trap sand and build a deep beach and keep the sea away from the wall. The Army Engineers may put dunes where there haven't been any for 40 years, but the first easterly wind will throw the dunes into Ocean Avenue overnight.

When I was a young reporter, the city editor always assigned a photographer to go to Sea Bright when a storm broke. The little town was always good for a catastrophic photo of floating bungalows and cars and sofas. It hasn't changed.

The only thing New Jersey has done is to put concrete between the huge stones of the wall. My younger daughter, Gayle, watched this and said: "Dad, won't the sea crack that concrete?" I said: "You have just passed your first test in engineering." When the next storm arrived, we made color movies of the sea cracking the concrete.

Sea Bright is a beautiful village on the edge of the sea, Mr. President. Its problems are too small for a man who is striving, day and night, to keep the world at peace. But as long as you're giving $10,000,000, may I ask how much of it will be used for stone jetties to keep the people of this town from floating out to sea?

This is the only place in the world which was afraid to buy a copy of Gone With the Wind . . .

Sincerely, J. B.

Skin And Nervous System Closely Related

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How can nerves cause a skin rash (neurodermatitis)? This is not difficult to explain because of the close relationship between the skin and the nervous system. Blushing, red blotches, blanching, and goose flesh are examples of a normal, healthy response to emotional stimulation. The same can be said about itching when the conversation veers toward lice or bedbugs.

Psychiatrists tell us that repressed emotions must seek some outlet and neurodermatitis represents the outward manifestation of the release of stress.

This may or may not be correct but helps to explain the outbreak that developes occasionally during periods of frustration or when we have feelings of inferiority or need love. Other psychiatrists have matched specific lesions with certain patterns of personality.

Most physicians agree that some skin diseases are induced by anxiety and other emotional factors and that these upsets can aggravate an existing dermatitis.

We know also there are hundreds of different skin conditions that are unrelated to the nervous system.

On the other hand, it is natural to be disturbed when pimples or blotches mar the appearance and it is not always easy to determine whether the nervousness came first or the eruption developed initially and upset the individual emotionally.

Additional research may change our concepts. Lesions traditionally attributed to stress have been observed in persons who are as cool as a cucumber as well as in men and women who have so little intelligence it is doubtful whether they can become emotionally disturbed.

Some day we will understand more fully what the skin is trying to tell us.

VOCAL CORD PARALYSIS

M. S. writes: Because my speech became hoarse and changeable, I went to a throat man. He said I have a slight paralysis of the left vocal cord, which would disappear probably as it came. Please write something about this condition.

REPLY

The vocal cords are muscles controlled by nerves. Anything that affects the nerves, such as neuritis or a small stroke, may lead to paralysis. I assume your physician knows the cause because he said the outlook is favorable.

SINK SHAMPOO

E. S. writes: Is there any reason why hair can't be shampooed in the kitchen sink? I have been told it should not be done as human hair contains germs.

REPLY

If you can clean a chicken or a head of lettuce, wash the dog's bowl, or rinse your hands in the kitchen sink, there is no reason why you can't shampoo the hair. The objections are mainly esthetic.

SWOLLEN THYROID

H. C. C. writes: I have a swelling of the thyroid 1½ inches long and ½ inch out. My doctor is watching it. Is there any danger of malignancy.

REPLY

Yes, but it is remote when the entire gland is enlarged. The chance of cancer is greater when a tumor or growth protrudes from the gland.

SNOW BLINDNESS

E. R. writes: Is there such a thing as snow blindness?

REPLY

Yes. The sun's rays are reflected from the snow and burn the delicate tissues of the eyes, including the retina.

TOMORROW: The mechanism of aging.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A pugnacious personality, exactly five feet tall and three sheets to the wind, staggered into a bar and loudly declared, "I'm the wild bull of Killarney and I can lick any bum in this joint." The bartender leaned casually across the bar, hit him lightly in the stomach, and sent him sprawling to the floor. It took the Killarneyite a few seconds to regain his composure, and then he told the bartender reproachfully, "Never hit a wild bull that way, man. It's the silliest thing you can do!"

LAND OF ART

ART IN THE SUN. Sculptors and artists at work in courtyard of school at Carrara.

Italy, the home of great classical art, is still rich soil for the modern artist. In town and city, in the bright outdoors of the open field or the fountained piazza of the village, in studio or classroom, artists, young and old, can be seen almost daily applying their skill to clay and canvas.

The artist in Italy finds much to inspire him. Everywhere around him, as subjects for his painting or sculpture, or other forms of art, are the time-mellowed homes and land, the ancient ruins and statuary, the vast collections of the works of great artists, all accessible for study and reproduction.

The Italian government encourages art and artists. It subsidizes most of the art schools where tuition is free or fees are low. These schools thrive not only in the large cities like Rome, Naples and Florence, but also in the smaller communities. They offer a wide variety of subjects, from painting, sculpture, mosaics and ceramics, to such courses as woodwork, ironwork, copperwork and glassblowing. Classes are maintained throughout the year.

Detailed Plans For Improved Library Service In Mineral County Are Outlined

KEYSER — Future plans for library service in Keyser and the immediate area were outlined to members of the Kiwanis Club and to the Keyser Parent-Teachers Association last week by Mrs. James T. Handlan, past president of the Library Association and active volunteer worker.

In her talk Mrs. Handlan outlined the history of the library since 1937 when it was organized as a WPA arts and crafts project in the Law Building. In 1941 it was moved to the basement of the elementary school building on South Mineral Street where it was maintained primarily through individual and organizational contributions with the librarian's salary being $50 per month.

In November 1951 the Mineral County Court alloted $600 per year to pay the librarian's salary and the city gave $150. Later the W. Va. Library Commission budgeted $3,120 per year on which the library was given the opportunity to remain open five half-days per week instead of three. The librarian's salary was then increased to $200 per month.

Recent interest on the part of the citizenry as well as hard work by the Library Association has resulted in the County Court approving a contribution of $6,600 and the city has increased it's share to $3,300. Both are to become effective in July of this year.

May Acquire Building

Mrs. Handlan explained that "this just seems to be our year for in addition to these two donations being increased the Library Commission also chose to improve library service in Regions 13 and 14 which cover the Eastern Panhandle. And in order to expand, we needed a new building but rather than float a bond levy and try to secure our own structure we were told that the Farmers and Merchants Bank was moving to a new location and we might possibly secure that building. Although nothing is definitely on paper yet we have high hopes that our plans will work out and we may be in the Main Street location by mid-July."

The speaker, who was introduced to the Kiwanians by Edwin Jordan, president of the Keyser-Mineral County Library Association, also spoke on the bookmobile which recently spent eight days in the county, during which time a total of 900 books were circulated, mostly in rural areas.

Mrs. Handlan explained that each fiscal year through June 30, 1966, the federal government appropriates $7,500,000 for the 50 states to use for the formation of public library service. West Virginia's share, based on population, is approximately $165,000. The state appropriates $99,000 which makes a total of $254,000.

"Provided that the Keyser-Mineral County Public Library can raise $10,000 (which is practically already assured) the following would be available from the State Library Commission:

"An $8,400 bookmobile which the area may use free of charge. The operating expenses of approximately 12c per mile would be paid by the library operating the bookmobile. At the end of three years the bookmobile will be sold to the library for the sum of approximately $500.

Books Provided

"The Commission will furnish free of charge 10,000 fully-processed books at $3.43 each with 5,000 for the library and 5,000 for the bookmobile. The following year another 10,000 books would be furnished free of charge.

"It would also provide $750 worth of classical and semi-classical recordings and the services of a library consultant from the Charleston office.

$10,500 in personnel services which may be all or a part of the regional librarian's salary, clerk and bookmobile driver. If the bookmobile would distribute books to more than Mineral County the cost would be divided among the various counties.

"The Library Commission would purchase books for the county with county money but at a discount of 38 per cent. These books would be fully processed which costs 73c per book."

Mrs. Handlan explained that the minimums per capita for good library service is $1.50. The West Virginia average is 69c per capita. Mineral County has a population og 22,354, which at 40c per capita is $8,941.60. At 69c per capita the total would be $15,424.26.

Cost To Keyser

"Based on the population of 7,000 in Keyser the cost to the city at Keyser would be $3,333.33 and to the county $6,666.66. The value of the present bank building is approximately $80,000, which would make the total value of the service about $100,000."

These benefits would be subject to various other conditions including: county libraries must have governmental support either from the County Court or through the city; regional library board must be appointed according to state law; there would be no direct school service; and that the local library is to be completely controlled by the local board.

The speaker explained that the library would furnish the building, light, heat, etc. However, if one county furnishes the headquarters building, the other county or counties would be asked to furnish some financial support and help with the other expenses.

Has Library Degree

Mrs. Handlan, a graduate of West Virginia University, received a degree in library science from Western Reserve of Cleveland and prior to her marriage worked in the Cleveland Public Library. She has been active in the local Association for a number of years, holding all of the major offices and numerous committee chairmanships.

Her talk, which came midway during the observance of National Library Week, also followed a meeting of the Library Board which earlier this week named Miss Mary F. Shipper, librarian at Potomac State College as chairman of the "Friends of the Library" which will secure donations of equipment, magazines, and newspapers for the new public library and obtain donations as memorials or outright gifts. Serving with her are Miss Madaline Knott and R. L. Murray.

Jordan said that a new Regional Librarian would be named in the near future and that a library workshop has been scheduled May 4-5 in Charleston.

Roadside Market May Be Set Up

PARSONS — There will be a meeting at the Cosner School in Dry Fork District today at 7:30 p.m. concerning the establishing of a roadside farmer's market in Canaan Valley. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Ft. Ashby Lions Club Sponsors Benefit Sales

Funds Designated In Sight Program

FORT ASHBY — The Fort Ashby Lions Club will sponsor its annual broom and light bulb sale April 26 and 27, and the proceeds will be used in the organization's sight conservation program.

Paul Malcolm, chairman of the sale, said the money collected will be used to purchase eye glasses, and provide examinations, treatment etc. for the less fortunate people and school children of the Fort Ashby, Patterson Creek and Short Gap areas.

The Lions Club here was formed June 20, 1948 with a roster of 15 members. Today there are 30 members in the organization with Seth Meadows as president.

Detailed Plans For Improved Library Service In Mineral County Are Outlined

KEYSER — Future plans for library service in Keyser and the immediate area were outlined to members of the Kiwanis Club and to the Keyser Parent-Teachers Association last week by Mrs. James T. Handlan, past president of the Library Association and active volunteer worker.

In her talk Mrs. Handlan outlined the history of the library since 1937 when it was organized as a WPA arts and crafts project in the Law Building. In 1941 it was moved to the basement of the elementary school building on South Mineral Street where it was maintained primarily through individual and organizational contributions with the librarian's salary being $50 per month.

In November 1951 the Mineral County Court alloted $600 per year to pay the librarian's salary and the city gave $150. Later the W. Va. Library Commission budgeted $3,120 per year on which the library was given the opportunity to remain open five half-days per week instead of three. The librarian's salary was then increased to $200 per month.

Recent interest on the part of the citizenry as well as hard work by the Library Association has resulted in the County Court approving a contribution of $6,600 and the city has increased it's share to $3,300. Both are to become effective in July of this year.

May Acquire Building

Mrs. Handlan explained that "this just seems to be our year for in addition to these two donations being increased the Library Commission also chose to improve library service in Regions 13 and 14 which cover the Eastern Panhandle. And in order to expand, we needed a new building but rather than float a bond levy and try to secure our own structure we were told that the Farmers and Merchants Bank was moving to a new location and we might possibly secure that building. Although nothing is definitely on paper yet we have high hopes that our plans will work out and we may be in the Main Street location by mid-July."

The speaker, who was introduced to the Kiwanians by Edwin Jordan, president of the Keyser-Mineral County Library Association, also spoke on the bookmobile which recently spent eight days in the county, during which time a total of 900 books were circulated, mostly in rural areas.

Mrs. Handlan explained that each fiscal year through June 30, 1966, the federal government appropriates $7,500,000 for the 50 states to use for the formation of public library service. West Virginia's share, based on population, is approximately $165,000. The state appropriates $99,000 which makes a total of $254,000.

"Provided that the Keyser-Mineral County Public Library can raise $10,000 (which is practically already assured) the following would be available from the State Library Commission:

"An $8,400 bookmobile which the area may use free of charge. The operating expenses of approximately 12c per mile would be paid by the library operating the bookmobile. At the end of three years the bookmobile will be sold to the library for the sum of approximately $500.

Books Provided

"The Commission will furnish free of charge 10,000 fully-processed books at $3.43 each with 5,000 for the library and 5,000 for the bookmobile. The following year another 10,000 books would be furnished free of charge.

"It would also provide $750 worth of classical and semi-classical recordings and the services of a library consultant from the Charleston office.

$10,500 in personnel services which may be all or a part of the regional librarian's salary, clerk and bookmobile driver. If the bookmobile would distribute books to more than Mineral County the cost would be divided among the various counties.

"The Library Commission would purchase books for the county with county money but at a discount of 38 per cent. These books would be fully processed which costs 73c per book."

Mrs. Handlan explained that the minimums per capita for good library service is $1.50. The West Virginia average is 69c per capita. Mineral County has a population og 22,354, which at 40c per capita is $8,941.60. At 69c per capita the total would be $15,424.26.

Cost To Keyser

"Based on the population of 7,000 in Keyser the cost to the city at Keyser would be $3,333.33 and to the county $6,666.66. The value of the present bank building is approximately $80,000, which would make the total value of the service about $100,000."

These benefits would be subject to various other conditions including: county libraries must have governmental support either from the County Court or through the city; regional library board must be appointed according to state law; there would be no direct school service; and that the local library is to be completely controlled by the local board.

The speaker explained that the library would furnish the building, light, heat, etc. However, if one county furnishes the headquarters building, the other county or counties would be asked to furnish some financial support and help with the other expenses.

Has Library Degree

Mrs. Handlan, a graduate of West Virginia University, received a degree in library science from Western Reserve of Cleveland and prior to her marriage worked in the Cleveland Public Library. She has been active in the local Association for a number of years, holding all of the major offices and numerous committee chairmanships.

Her talk, which came midway during the observance of National Library Week, also followed a meeting of the Library Board which earlier this week named Miss Mary F. Shipper, librarian at Potomac State College as chairman of the "Friends of the Library" which will secure donations of equipment, magazines, and newspapers for the new public library and obtain donations as memorials or outright gifts. Serving with her are Miss Madaline Knott and R. L. Murray.

Jordan said that a new Regional Librarian would be named in the near future and that a library workshop has been scheduled May 4-5 in Charleston.

Roadside Market May Be Set Up

PARSONS — There will be a meeting at the Cosner School in Dry Fork District today at 7:30 p.m. concerning the establishing of a roadside farmer's market in Canaan Valley. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Ralph Dunkle, county agent, requests that all members of the special committee be present. They are Guy Harper, Fred Cooper, Dan Lawrence, Ben Thompson, George Kisner, Earl Harr, C. B. O'Dell, Joe Cooper, Benson Lambert and J. Franklin Wade Jr., rural area development agent of Elkins.

Ft. Ashby Lions Club Sponsors Benefit Sales

Funds Designated In Sight Program

FORT ASHBY — The Fort Ashby Lions Club will sponsor its annual broom and light bulb sale April 26 and 27, and the proceeds will be used in the organization's sight conservation program.

Paul Malcolm, chairman of the sale, said the money collected will be used to purchase eye glasses, and provide examinations, treatment etc. for the less fortunate people and school children of the Fort Ashby, Patterson Creek and Short Gap areas.

The Lions Club here was formed June 20, 1948 with a roster of 15 members. Today there are 30 members in the organization with Seth Meadows as president.

Sammy Taylor Wants Traded From Chicago

Catcher Leaves Cubs Without Permission

WOODRUFF, S.C. (AP)—Sammy Taylor, regular catcher for the Chicago Cubs, said Tuesday he would quit baseball if he is not traded.

Taylor, 29, said he was not making enough money to keep up two homes, in Chicago, and in Woodruff, where his wife prefers to live with their 4-year-old daughter.

Taylor said he has no team in mind he wants to be traded to, and knows of no deal in the making.

In Chicago, Cub Vice President John Holland said Taylor was suspended from baseball when he failed to show up for Tuesday's game with Los Angeles.

Taylor confirmed that Holland had refused him permission to visit his home in South Carolina and told him he would be suspended without pay if he went. "My family means more to me than baseball," said Taylor.

"We know Sammy has had difficulties for some time, but these are his problems and he will have to work them out," Holland said in Chicago.

Spahn Bags 311th, Beats Phils, 2-1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn put down a ninth-inning uprising to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 Tuesday night for the 311th victory of his brilliant career.

Spahn lost a bid for his 56th shutout when, with two out, singles by Mel Roach, Don Demeter and Sammy White accounted for the Phillies lone run.

With the potential tying run on third, Spahn ended the game by getting Sandy Amaro to tap back to the mound on the first pitch.

Spahn surrendered nine hits while striking out six and walking only one to earn his second straight victory, half the Braves' total in 13 starts this season. Roy Sievers was a Spahn strike out victim three times.

Birds Score Four In 9th To Edge Minnesota, 5-4

Single By Powell With Bases Full Decides Contest

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Rookie John Powell's two-out single in the bottom of the ninth with the bases full gave the Baltimore Orioles a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night.

Powell, hitless in his last 12 times at bat, topped a four-run Oriole uprising in the ninth after the Twins apparently had sewed up a 4-1 victory.

Twins starter Jack Kralick gave up a single to Jackie Brandt to open the ninth inning. Brooks Robinson then walked. The rally appeared to die when Gus Triandos hit a grounder to third baseman Rich Rollins, who turned it into a double play, leaving the Orioles with a runner on third base and two out.

Jerry Adair then singled to make it 4-2. Pinch hitter Dick Williams, batting for winning pitcher Milt Pappas, singled to left, chasing Kralick in favor of reliever Joe Bonikowski. On a 3-2 count, Johnny Temple hit a sharp grounder to third that took a bad hop off Rollins' outstretched glove and went for a double, scoring Adair to make it 4-3.

Dick Stigman then took over for Bonikowski and purposely walked pinch hitter Ozzie Virgil to load the bases. Then Powell hit a ground single which nicked second baseman Bernie Allen's glove but scored the tying and winning runs. It was Baltimore's fourth straight victory.

Pappas, who went all the way although touched for eight hits, had a 1-0 lead with two out in the sixth when the Twins scored twice on two singles and two walks.

Fullmer-Pender Go Will Have $30 Top

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — Co-promoter Norman Rothschild disclosed Tuesday middleweights Gene Fullmer and Paul Pender have been guaranteed $113,750 each for their June 9 world title bout in Bozeman, Mont.

Rothschild, of Syracuse, N. Y., told Montana Gov. Tim Babcock the June 9 date, a Saturday, had been "firmed up."

Because of the big guarantees, Rothschild said, ticket prices will run from $30 ringside down to $20, $15, $10 and $5 in the circular 13,000-seat Montana State College fieldhouse.

"I offered each fighter $8,500 more than anyone else," said Rothschild, who added his stiffest competition came from San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

Unassisted Triple Play Is Credited To Marlins' Shortstop

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ernesto De la Osa, 20, a shortstop for the Miami Marlins of the Florida State League, made an unassisted triple play Monday night.

It happened like this: Fort Lauderdale had men on first and second when rookie Ed Gascie walloped a line drive. De la Osa snagged the ball around his knees and raced toward second where he tagged the runner off base. Still on a dead run, he met the runner from first and tagged him out.

Pirates Whip Giants, 7-3, Behind McBean

Leppert Homers In Pittsburgh Win

PITTSBURGH (UPI) Right-hander Alvin McBean, with relief help from Elroy Face, pitched the rampaging Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7-3 victory Tuesday night over the San Francisco Giants.

McBean was sailing along on a six hitter when he walked catcher Ed Bailey and surrendered a single to Jose Pagan with one out in the ninth. Face got Jim Davenport on a fielder's choice and pinchhitter Tom Haller on a fly ball to end the game.

The Pirates opened the scoring with two runs in the second inning on catcher Don Leppert's second homer of the season, a wrong-way shot into the rightfield stands with Don Hoak on base.

They wrapped up the game with five runs in the fourth inning, chasing Giant starter and loser Juan Marichal. Ten batters went to the plate in the inning. The big blow was Bill Mazeroski's bases-loaded single.

The Pirate infield made the going easier for McBean by snapping off three double plays, two of them on the fleet Willie Mays.

Mets Close Player Deal, Weiss Says

Reds And Braves May Be Involved

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The floundering New York Mets have closed one player deal and are on the verge of closing another, club President George Weiss said on Tuesday.

"One is all set," said Weiss who accompanied the Mets to Cincinnati for their series against the National League champion Reds Tuesday night. "It now is just a question of the other club informing their players."

Weiss did not hint at any of the players involved, nor did he say what teams he is dickering with. He disclosed that the deals probably will be announced on Thursday.

"They won't be anything earth-shaking," Weiss said. "But we think they will help us. We have had a little time to assess things now and see what we need."

Although Weiss has stressed throughout the spring that the club's top need is pitching, there are indications that the deals on the fire revolve around obtaining a catcher. It has been no secret that Weiss has been dissatisfied with the catching, as well as many other things, as the Mets lost their first nine games before winning Monday night in Pittsburgh.

There was a slight hint that the Milwaukee Braves might be one of the other clubs involved. Weiss was reminded by a newsman that the Mets still owe the Braves a player in the Mets' purchase of slugger Frank Thomas from the Braves.

"That will be taken into consideration if we have any deals with them," Weiss replied without further explanation.

Another possibility is that the Reds are involved. Weiss has been conferring here with Reds' owner Bill DeWitt, who once served as assistant general manager of the New York Yankees when Weiss was general manager of that club.

Weiss stressed that any player on the Mets "is tradeable if we can make an improvement."

Sammy Taylor Wants Traded From Chicago

Catcher Leaves Cubs Without Permission

WOODRUFF, S.C. (AP)—Sammy Taylor, regular catcher for the Chicago Cubs, said Tuesday he would quit baseball if he is not traded.

Taylor, 29, said he was not making enough money to keep up two homes, in Chicago, and in Woodruff, where his wife prefers to live with their 4-year-old daughter.

Taylor said he has no team in mind he wants to be traded to, and knows of no deal in the making.

In Chicago, Cub Vice President John Holland said Taylor was suspended from baseball when he failed to show up for Tuesday's game with Los Angeles.

Taylor confirmed that Holland had refused him permission to visit his home in South Carolina and told him he would be suspended without pay if he went. "My family means more to me than baseball," said Taylor.

"We know Sammy has had difficulties for some time, but these are his problems and he will have to work them out," Holland said in Chicago.

Taylor, reached by telephone at his home here, said he preferred not to discuss family problems.

Taylor said that if he does not remain in organized baseball, he would like to get a job in youth work, perhaps teaching baseball and other sports to youngsters.

Spahn Bags 311th, Beats Phils, 2-1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn put down a ninth-inning uprising to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 Tuesday night for the 311th victory of his brilliant career.

Spahn lost a bid for his 56th shutout when, with two out, singles by Mel Roach, Don Demeter and Sammy White accounted for the Phillies lone run.

With the potential tying run on third, Spahn ended the game by getting Sandy Amaro to tap back to the mound on the first pitch.

Spahn surrendered nine hits while striking out six and walking only one to earn his second straight victory, half the Braves' total in 13 starts this season. Roy Sievers was a Spahn strike out victim three times.

Birds Score Four In 9th To Edge Minnesota, 5-4

Single By Powell With Bases Full Decides Contest

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Rookie John Powell's two-out single in the bottom of the ninth with the bases full gave the Baltimore Orioles a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night.

Powell, hitless in his last 12 times at bat, topped a four-run Oriole uprising in the ninth after the Twins apparently had sewed up a 4-1 victory.

Twins starter Jack Kralick gave up a single to Jackie Brandt to open the ninth inning. Brooks Robinson then walked. The rally appeared to die when Gus Triandos hit a grounder to third baseman Rich Rollins, who turned it into a double play, leaving the Orioles with a runner on third base and two out.

Jerry Adair then singled to make it 4-2. Pinch hitter Dick Williams, batting for winning pitcher Milt Pappas, singled to left, chasing Kralick in favor of reliever Joe Bonikowski. On a 3-2 count, Johnny Temple hit a sharp grounder to third that took a bad hop off Rollins' outstretched glove and went for a double, scoring Adair to make it 4-3.

Dick Stigman then took over for Bonikowski and purposely walked pinch hitter Ozzie Virgil to load the bases. Then Powell hit a ground single which nicked second baseman Bernie Allen's glove but scored the tying and winning runs. It was Baltimore's fourth straight victory.

Pappas, who went all the way although touched for eight hits, had a 1-0 lead with two out in the sixth when the Twins scored twice on two singles and two walks.

The Twins scored single runs in the eighth and ninth, with Rollins driving in one on a single and Allen the other on a triple.

Fullmer-Pender Go Will Have $30 Top

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — Co-promoter Norman Rothschild disclosed Tuesday middleweights Gene Fullmer and Paul Pender have been guaranteed $113,750 each for their June 9 world title bout in Bozeman, Mont.

Rothschild, of Syracuse, N. Y., told Montana Gov. Tim Babcock the June 9 date, a Saturday, had been "firmed up."

Because of the big guarantees, Rothschild said, ticket prices will run from $30 ringside down to $20, $15, $10 and $5 in the circular 13,000-seat Montana State College fieldhouse.

"I offered each fighter $8,500 more than anyone else," said Rothschild, who added his stiffest competition came from San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

Unassisted Triple Play Is Credited To Marlins' Shortstop

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ernesto De la Osa, 20, a shortstop for the Miami Marlins of the Florida State League, made an unassisted triple play Monday night.

It happened like this: Fort Lauderdale had men on first and second when rookie Ed Gascie walloped a line drive. De la Osa snagged the ball around his knees and raced toward second where he tagged the runner off base. Still on a dead run, he met the runner from first and tagged him out.

Pirates Whip Giants, 7-3, Behind McBean

Leppert Homers In Pittsburgh Win

PITTSBURGH (UPI) Right-hander Alvin McBean, with relief help from Elroy Face, pitched the rampaging Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7-3 victory Tuesday night over the San Francisco Giants.

McBean was sailing along on a six hitter when he walked catcher Ed Bailey and surrendered a single to Jose Pagan with one out in the ninth. Face got Jim Davenport on a fielder's choice and pinchhitter Tom Haller on a fly ball to end the game.

The Pirates opened the scoring with two runs in the second inning on catcher Don Leppert's second homer of the season, a wrong-way shot into the rightfield stands with Don Hoak on base.

They wrapped up the game with five runs in the fourth inning, chasing Giant starter and loser Juan Marichal. Ten batters went to the plate in the inning. The big blow was Bill Mazeroski's bases-loaded single.

The Pirate infield made the going easier for McBean by snapping off three double plays, two of them on the fleet Willie Mays.

Mets Close Player Deal, Weiss Says

Reds And Braves May Be Involved

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The floundering New York Mets have closed one player deal and are on the verge of closing another, club President George Weiss said on Tuesday.

"One is all set," said Weiss who accompanied the Mets to Cincinnati for their series against the National League champion Reds Tuesday night. "It now is just a question of the other club informing their players."

Weiss did not hint at any of the players involved, nor did he say what teams he is dickering with. He disclosed that the deals probably will be announced on Thursday.

"They won't be anything earth-shaking," Weiss said. "But we think they will help us. We have had a little time to assess things now and see what we need."

Although Weiss has stressed throughout the spring that the club's top need is pitching, there are indications that the deals on the fire revolve around obtaining a catcher. It has been no secret that Weiss has been dissatisfied with the catching, as well as many other things, as the Mets lost their first nine games before winning Monday night in Pittsburgh.

There was a slight hint that the Milwaukee Braves might be one of the other clubs involved. Weiss was reminded by a newsman that the Mets still owe the Braves a player in the Mets' purchase of slugger Frank Thomas from the Braves.

"That will be taken into consideration if we have any deals with them," Weiss replied without further explanation.

Another possibility is that the Reds are involved. Weiss has been conferring here with Reds' owner Bill DeWitt, who once served as assistant general manager of the New York Yankees when Weiss was general manager of that club.

Sloan Hurls LaSalle To 5-2 Triumph Over Fort Hill In Opener

Lefty Stops Sentinels On Eight-Hitter

Gary Garlitz Paces Attack On Defending Champs With 3 Hits

Lefty Johnny Sloan made Brother Richard's debut as coach of the LaSalle High Explorers a successful one yesterday as he turned back Fort Hill High's defending champions, 5-2, in the County Baseball League opener for both teams at Stitcher field.

Sloan gave up eight hits, but was tough in the clutch as he gave LaSalle only its second win in the past 12 games with Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's Sentineis. Fort Hill had won 10 of 11 games since 1956, bowing 4-3 to the Explorers in the first game of the 1960 series.

Takes Over Reins

LaSalle grabbed a 2-1 lead in the third when Donnie Harden's booming triple to deep left field scored Joe Nolan who had reached first safely on a two-out error by the Fort Hill second baseman. Harden came racing home with the lead run on first of two singles by Tom Stitcher.

The Explorers padded their lead by pushing over two more runs in the fourth on a double by Jim O'Toole, singles by Sloan and Gary Garlitz and two Fort Hill miscues.

The final LaSalle tally came at the expense of Howard Reynolds who had relieved starter and loser Dave Price in the fifth. Singles by Stitcher, Terry Talley and Rich Shaffer brought in the run. Talley was thrown out at the plate attempting to score on Shaffer's bingle to close out the inning.

Manges Hits Triple

Fort Hill took a brief 1-0 lead in the first when Gary Elliott opened the inning with a single and stole second. Jan Withrow's sacrifice sent Elliott to third from where he scored on Harold Hardinger's one-base blow.

The Sentinels tallied again in the sixth on Ronnie Manges' two-out triple and a single by Homer Hardinger.

Sloan fanned nine and walked but two in going the route for LaSalle. He received able batting support from Garlitz who had three hits, including a double, and Stitcher and Talley, each of whom collected two bingles. Wellington Donahue had a pair of singles for Fort Hill. The lineup:

The City Recreation Department will have charge of assigning practice fields as in past years and will begin accepting reservations from teams beginning Thursday at 9 a.m.

All leagues, youth and adult, softball and baseball, must contact the Rec Department to receive first field assignments for next week.

Hot Stove League officials have placed the scheduling of practice at Penn Avenue Field in the hands of the Rec Department and managers are required to make arrangements at City Hall.

Hits Two Homers To Beat Senators

BOSTON (AP) — Spray-hitter Pete Runnels, who managed only three home runs last season, clubbed a pair Tuesday in helping Boston to a 4-1 victory over the last place Washington Senators.

The 1960 American League batting king sent the Red Sox ahead 1-0 with a leadoff homer in the third inning and broke a 1-1 tie with another solo round tripper in the eighth.

P.V.C. Game Today

Capon Bridge High School and Fort Ashby High School are scheduled to play at Fort Ashby today in a Potomac Valley Conference contest.

Keyser, Southern, Beall Capture PVC Encounters

Mountaineer Rally Beats Eagles, 2-1; Tornado Wins, 9-0

Beall High's Mountaineers, held hitless for six innings, shoved over a pair of runs in the bottom of the seventh to edge Fort Ashby's Eagles, 2-1, behind Dave Broadwater's one-hit pitching in a Potomac Valley Conference thriller yesterday at Frostburg.

In other league encounters yesterday, Keyser High's Golden Tornado nine blanked Petersburg, 9-0, on the Vikings' diamond, and Southern High's Highlanders opened their loop campaign with a 6-1 decision at Elk Garden.

Allan Eisel broke the spell of Fort Ashby's Sisk who had stopped Beall without a hit until the seventh and was leading 1-0. Eisel opened the frame with a single and Fort Ashby relieved Sisk with Don Wagoner.

Scores On Wild Throw

Eisel stole second and moved to third on a sacrifice. Tom Wilson then attempted a squeeze bunt for the tying run and when the ball was thrown wildly past first, Eisel scored and Wilson took second. Broadwater, the winning pitcher, then doubled to bring Wilson in with the deciding run. Wagoner was the loser.

Broadwater went the route for Beall, whiffing 12 and walking only two. He permitted only a fourth inning triple by Mangus which was wasted by the Eagles.

Keyser's Terry Turbin held Petersburg to four scattered hits to pick up his fourth win and second shutout. It was the fourth straight conference loss for the Vikings.

Keyser (4-1) broke open a scoreless duel between Turbin and Jim McCauley with five runs in the fifth inning. The Tornado nine added two more runs in each of the sixth and seventh innings to close out the scoring.

Two Petersburg errors opened the gates for the big Keyser fifth. Jim Nutter and Bill Dawson then walked to force in a run before Pat Cooper unloaded a three-run triple and scored on Herb Harman's single.

Collects Three Hits

Southern opened its 1962 campaign on a winning note as Jim Finch tossed a three-hitter at Elk Garden to hand the Elks their second straight loss.

Finch struck out 11 Elks and walked but one in going the route. Lefty Hickey, the losing pitcher, whiffed seven and gave up two bases in balls. He was touched for 10 hits by Southern.

Southern To Play 10 Baseball Games

Southern High School of Oakland plans to play ten baseball games this season, including eight in the Potomac Valley Conference, according to Dick Travis, athletic director at the Oakland school.

Colavito's Single Beats Rookie Hurler

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers pushed across a run in the eighth inning Tuesday night and ruined a magnificient debut as a starting pitcher by Dan Pfister in a 1-0 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Rocky Colavito's two-out single off third baseman Ed Charles' chest chased in Jake Wood with the only run. Don Mossi, who issued four hits compared to Pfister's three, was the winner.

Lefty Stops Sentinels On Eight-Hitter

Gary Garlitz Paces Attack On Defending Champs With 3 Hits

Lefty Johnny Sloan made Brother Richard's debut as coach of the LaSalle High Explorers a successful one yesterday as he turned back Fort Hill High's defending champions, 5-2, in the County Baseball League opener for both teams at Stitcher field.

Sloan gave up eight hits, but was tough in the clutch as he gave LaSalle only its second win in the past 12 games with Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's Sentineis. Fort Hill had won 10 of 11 games since 1956, bowing 4-3 to the Explorers in the first game of the 1960 series.

Takes Over Reins

LaSalle grabbed a 2-1 lead in the third when Donnie Harden's booming triple to deep left field scored Joe Nolan who had reached first safely on a two-out error by the Fort Hill second baseman. Harden came racing home with the lead run on first of two singles by Tom Stitcher.

The Explorers padded their lead by pushing over two more runs in the fourth on a double by Jim O'Toole, singles by Sloan and Gary Garlitz and two Fort Hill miscues.

The final LaSalle tally came at the expense of Howard Reynolds who had relieved starter and loser Dave Price in the fifth. Singles by Stitcher, Terry Talley and Rich Shaffer brought in the run. Talley was thrown out at the plate attempting to score on Shaffer's bingle to close out the inning.

Manges Hits Triple

Fort Hill took a brief 1-0 lead in the first when Gary Elliott opened the inning with a single and stole second. Jan Withrow's sacrifice sent Elliott to third from where he scored on Harold Hardinger's one-base blow.

The Sentinels tallied again in the sixth on Ronnie Manges' two-out triple and a single by Homer Hardinger.

Sloan fanned nine and walked but two in going the route for LaSalle. He received able batting support from Garlitz who had three hits, including a double, and Stitcher and Talley, each of whom collected two bingles. Weilington Donahue had a pair of singles for Fort Hill. The lineup:

Barton won the pennant in 1961 with a 24-6 record. Klondyke was runner-up with 22-8, followed by Westernport 19-10, Zihlman 17-13, Danville 6-23 and Franklin 1-29.

Westernport copped the playoff crown last season by beating Barton and Klondyke.

Rec Department Assigns Fields For Practices

The City Recreation Department will have charge of assigning practice fields as in past years and will begin accepting reservations from teams beginning Thursday at 9 a.m.

All leagues, youth and adult, softball and baseball, must contact the Rec Department to receive first field assignments for next week.

Hot Stove League officials have placed the scheduling of practice at Penn Avenue Field in the hands of the Rec Department and managers are required to make arrangements at City Hall.

C. Eugene Mason, director of the Rec Department, says it is the policy to give all teams an equal chance to practice.

Hits Two Homers To Beat Senators

BOSTON (AP) — Spray-hitter Pete Runnels, who managed only three home runs last season, clubbed a pair Tuesday in helping Boston to a 4-1 victory over the last place Washington Senators.

The 1960 American League batting king sent the Red Sox ahead 1-0 with a leadoff homer in the third inning and broke a 1-1 tie with another solo round tripper in the eighth.

Frank Malzone also doubled home two insurance runs with the bases loaded in the eighth.

P.V.C. Game Today

Capon Bridge High School and Fort Ashby High School are scheduled to play at Fort Ashby today in a Potomac Valley Conference contest.

Mountaineer Rally Beats Eagles, 2-1; Tornado Wins, 9-0

Beall High's Mountaineers, held hitless for six innings, shoved over a pair of runs in the botiom of the seventh to edge Fort Ashby's Eagles, 2-1, behind Dave Broadwater's one-hit pitching in a Potomac Valley Conference thriller yesterday at Frostburg.

In other league encounters yesterday, Keyser High's Golden Tornado nine blanked Petersburg, 9-0, on the Vikings' diamond, and Southern High's Highlanders opened their loop campaign with a 6-1 decision at Elk Garden.

Allan Eisel broke the spell of Fort Ashby's Sisk who had stopped Beall without a hit until the seventh and was leading 1-0. Eisel opened the frame with a single and Fort Ashby relieved Sisk with Don Wagoner.

Scores On Wild Throw

Eisel stole second and moved to third on a sacrifice. Tom Wilson then attempted a squeeze bunt for the tying run and when the ball was thrown wildly past first, Eisel scored and Wilson took second. Broadwater, the winning pitcher, then doubled to bring Wilson in with the deciding run. Wagoner was the loser.

Broadwater went the route for Beall, whiffing 12 and walking only two. He permitted only a fourth inning triple by Mangus which was wasted by the Eagles.

Keyser's Terry Turbin held Petersburg to four scattered hits to pick up his fourth win and second shutout. It was the fourth straight conference loss for the Vikings.

Keyser (4-1) broke open a scoreless duel between Turbin and Jim McCauley with five runs in the fifth inning. The Tornado nine added two more runs in each of the sixth and seventh innings to close out the scoring.

Two Petersburg errors opened the gates for the big Keyser fifth. Jim Nutter and Bill Dawson then walked to force in a run before Pat Cooper unloaded a three-run triple and scored on Herb Harman's single.

Collects Three Hits

Harman collected three hits to pace the Keyser attack. Andy Walker's three-bagger was the only extra-base hit obtained by Petersburg.

Southern opened its 1962 campaign on a winning note as Jim Finch tossed a three-hitter at Elk Garden to hand the Elks their second straight loss.

Finch struck out 11 Elks and walked but one in going the route. Lefty Hickey, the losing pitcher, whiffed seven and gave up two bases in balls. He was touched for 10 hits by Southern.

Southern To Play 10 Baseball Games

Southern High School of Oakland plans to play ten baseball games this season, including eight in the Potomac Valley Conference, according to Dick Travis, athletic director at the Oakland school.

May 4—Northern, away.
May 8—Keyser, away.

Colavito's Single Beats Rookie Hurler

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers pushed across a run in the eighth inning Tuesday night and ruined a magnificient debut as a starting pitcher by Dan Pfister in a 1-0 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Rocky Colavito's two-out single off third baseman Ed Charles' chest chased in Jake Wood with the only run. Don Mossi, who issued four hits compared to Pfister's three, was the winner.

Pfister, a 25-year-old rookie, held the Tigers to one hit until the eighth. He was working on a no-hitter until Steve Boros singled in the fifth.

Sandy Koufax Strikes Out 18 Cubs, Ties Major League Record

Southpaw Tops NL Day Record Of 17; Homers Net 6 Runs

CHICAGO (AP) — Sandy Koufax struck out 18 batters to tie the modern National League record he shared with Bob Feller, in hurling the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 10-2 triumph over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

The total topped the National League day strikeout record of 17, which was shared by Dizzy Dean of St. Louis and Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia.

Cleveland's Feller struck out 18 in a losing day game against Detroit Oct. 2, 1938, and Koufax did the same against San Francisco in a night game Aug. 31, 1959.

Koufax, scattering six hits including a leadoff homer in the ninth by Billy Williams, struck out 12 Cubs in the first five innings.

He struck out the side in three innings, the first, third and ninth.

The Dodgers accounted for six runs on homers. Tommie Davis slammed a three-run homer in the fifth, Duke Snider smashed a two-run homer in the ninth and Andy Carey had a solo blast in the fourth.

Davis, who also singled across a run in the second, swelled his season RBI total to 20, tops in the National League.

It was Koufax' third triumph in four decisions. The loser was Don Cardwell, who lasted only five innings in suffering his fourth setback without victory.

Floyd Robinson's Two-Run Homer Sinks Yankees, 3-1

Circuit Wallop Beats Terry In 8th, Buzhardt Is Victor

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Robinson, one of the hottest hitters in the majors, slammed a two-run homer in the eighth inning Tuesday for a 3-1 Chicago White Sox victory over the New York Yankees. A fine week day crowd of 21,769 saw the game.

Until the White Sox rallied in the eighth, Terry appeared well on his way to a fourth straight victory with an impressive shutout. He was riding along with a 1-0 lead provided by Blanchard's third homer of the year into the lower right field seats in the second off Johnny Buzhardt, the eventual winner.

Robinson, the White Sox' new cleanup hitter, boosted his average to .469 with a homer and a single in four trips. He leads the league with 23 hits and 21 runs batted in.

Roger Maris, trying to fight his way out of a deep slump, went hitless in three trips and his average dropped 10 points to .122. He has only one hit in his last 25 trips. Mickey Mantle walked twice, boosting his season total to 19 but failed to hit in two official at bats.

Blue Grass Stakes Draw Derby Stars

Ridan Among Four In Thursday Race

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Four top Kentucky Derby candidates had good workouts Tuesday at Keeneland race course as they prepared for the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes on Thursday.

The Blue Grass, run over the mile and one-eighth, is the final distance prep for the Derby at Churchill Downs May 5.

T. Wally Dunn, trainer of Green Hornet watched his colt go a mile and a half with ease and commented, "He wants distance all right. He may go in the Blue Grass."

Roman Line was on the track under an exercise boy, touring the mile and sixteenth oval at a slow gallop. He won the Forerunner Purse here last Thursday by five lengths to improve his stock for the Derby. The Forerunner has spawned six Derby champion in recent years.

Decidedly, the gray colt which had been the favorite in the Forerunner but found a bunched field impenetrable, was named as a likely entry in the Blue Grass.

A Keeneland spokesman said Tuesday Crimson Satan and Ridan are sure starters in the Blue Grass. Other probables, beside Roman Line, Green Hornet and Decidedly, are Black Beard, Aeropolis and Boone Co.

Pirates Post 9-3 Win Over Berkeley

Paw Paw High's Pirates captured their fifth consecutive victory yesterday, downing Berkeley Springs High's Indians, 9-3, in a non-conference baseball game at Paw Paw.

Larry Harding picked up his second pitching win as he held the Indians to four hits over the first six innings. Paul Kidwell finished up by striking out the side in the seventh to preserve Harding's decision.

Coach Lewis Close's Pirates pounded out nine hits including doubles by Gary Kidwell, Clark Hamilton, Roland Hamilton and Ronald Harding, breaking the game open early with three-run rallies in the first and second innings.

The win was the sixth in seven games for Paw Paw while Berkeley Springs is now 0-2 for the season. The Pirates will play at Romney on Thursday in a Potomac Valley Conference tilt. The lineups:

Hyndman Bows, 3-2, To Chestnut Ridge

Hyndman High School suffered its fifth straight defeat in the Bedford County High School League yesterday when it dropped a 3-2 decision to Chestnut Ridge High School at Fishertown.

The Hornets nicked Cox, starting and winning pitcher, for 7 hits in six innings but were unable to score after tallying twice in the third frame to take a 2-1 lead.

Sandy Koufax Strikes Out 18 Cubs, Ties Major League Record

Southpaw Tops NL Day Record Of 17; Homers Net 6 Runs

CHICAGO (AP) — Sandy Koufax struck out 18 batters to tie the modern National League record he shared with Bob Feller, in hurling the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 10-2 triumph over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

The total topped the National League day strikeout record of 17, which was shared by Dizzy Dean of St. Louis and Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia.

Cleveland's Feller struck out 18 in a losing day game against Detroit Oct. 2, 1938, and Koufax did the same against San Francisco in a night game Aug. 31, 1959.

Koufax, scattering six hits including a leadoff homer in the ninth by Billy Williams, struck out 12 Cubs in the first five innings.

He struck out the side in three innings, the first, third and ninth.

The Dodgers accounted for six runs on homers. Tommie Davis slammed a three-run homer in the fifth, Duke Snider smashed a two-run homer in the ninth and Andy Carey had a solo blast in the fourth.

Davis, who also singled across a run in the second, swelled his season RBI total to 20, tops in the National League.

It was Koufax' third triumph in four decisions. The loser was Don Cardwell, who lasted only five innings in suffering his fourth setback without victory.

Floyd Robinson's Two-Run Homer Sinks Yankees, 3-1

Circuit Wallop Beats Terry In 8th, Buzhardt Is Victor

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Robinson, one of the hottest hitters in the majors, slammed a two-run homer in the eighth inning Tuesday for a 3-1 Chicago White Sox victory over the New York Yankees. A fine week day crowd of 21,769 saw the game.

Until the White Sox rallied in the eighth, Terry appeared well on his way to a fourth straight victory with an impressive shutout. He was riding along with a 1-0 lead provided by Blanchard's third homer of the year into the lower right field seats in the second off Johnny Buzhardt, the eventual winner.

Robinson, the White Sox' new cleanup hitter, boosted his average to .469 with a homer and a single in four trips. He leads the league with 23 hits and 21 runs batted in.

Roger Maris, trying to fight his way out of a deep slump, went hitless in three trips and his average dropped 10 points to .122. He has only one hit in his last 25 trips. Mickey Mantle walked twice, boosting his season total to 19 but failed to hit in two official at bats.

Blue Grass Stakes Draw Derby Stars

Ridan Among Four In Thursday Race

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Four top Kentucky Derby candidates had good workouts Tuesday at Keeneland race course as they prepared for the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes on Thursday.

The Blue Grass, run over the mile and one-eighth, is the final distance prep for the Derby at Churchill Downs May 5.

Crimson Satan, Crimson King Farm's juvenile champion of 1961, worked a half mile in the good time of :45 3-5 seconds with jockey Bill Phelps up.

Ridan, who battled Crimson Satan for 2-year-old honors, was full of pep as he galloped two miles with trainer Moody Jolley on a pony holding his flashy Nantullah colt.

T. Wally Dunn, trainer of Green Hornet watched his colt go a mile and a half with ease and commented, "He wants distance all right. He may go in the Blue Grass."

Roman Line was on the track under an exercise boy, touring the mile and sixteenth oval at a slow gallop. He won the Forerunner Purse here last Thursday by five lengths to improve his stock for the Derby. The Forerunner has spawned six Derby champion in recent years.

Decidedly, the gray colt which had been the favorite in the Forerunner but found a bunched field impenetrable, was named as a likely entry in the Blue Grass.

A Keeneland spokesman said Tuesday Crimson Satan and Ridan are sure starters in the Blue Grass. Other probables, beside Roman Line, Green Hornet and Decidedly, are Black Beard, Aeropolis and Boone Co.

Pirates Post 9-3 Win Over Berkeley

Paw Paw High's Pirates captured their fifth consecutive victory yesterday, downing Berkeley Springs High's Indians, 9-3, in a non-conference baseball game at Paw Paw.

Larry Harding picked up his second pitching win as he held the Indians to four hits over the first six innings. Paul Kidwell finished up by striking out the side in the seventh to preserve Harding's decision.

Coach Lewis Close's Pirates pounded out nine hits including doubles by Gary Kidwell, Clark Hamilton, Roland Hamilton and Ronald Harding, breaking the game open early with three-run rallies in the first and second innings.

The win was the sixth in seven games for Paw Paw while Berkeley Springs is now 0-2 for the season. The Pirates will play at Romney on Thursday in a Potomac Valley Conference tilt. The lineups:

Hornets Drop Fifth In Row

Hyndman Bows, 3-2, To Chestnut Ridge

Hyndman High School suffered its fifth straight defeat in the Bedford County High School League yesterday when it dropped a 3-2 decision to Chestnut Ridge High School at Fishertown.

Bob Fichtner held the home team to three hits and fanned seven but six fielding miscues helped contribute to his downfall.

The Hornets nicked Cox, starting and winning pitcher, for 7 hits in six innings but were unable to score after tallying twice in the third frame to take a 2-1 lead.

U.S. Steel Dividend News Seen Bolstering Market

Word came from the nation's number one steel producer shortly after the final gong that it would not cut the dividend. Brokers immediately interpreted the news as bullish and now look for a forward move in the morning.

Steels had see-sawed through most of the session but came up sharply at the close. U. S. Steel finished up ¾ after reporting first quarter per share earnings of 91 cents compared with 47 cents in the similar period last year.

Other steels responded well including Republic and Jones & Laughlin both up ⅝, National up 2⅜ and Youngstown up ⅛, the last on higher first quarter earnings.

The Dow-Jones industrial average dropped 1.61 and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped 0.07. A total of 1,306 issues crossed the tape Tuesday of which 552 declined and 498 advanced. Of these 81 hit new 1962 lows and 30 touched new highs.

U.S. Steel Dividend News Seen Bolstering Market

Word came from the nation's number one steel producer shortly after the final gong that it would not cut the dividend. Brokers immediately interpreted the news as bullish and now look for a forward move in the morning.

Steels had see-sawed through most of the session but came up sharply at the close. U. S. Steel finished up ¾ after reporting first quarter per share earnings of 91 cents compared with 47 cents in the similar period last year.

Other steels responded well including Republic and Jones & Laughlin both up ⅝, National up 2⅜ and Youngstown up ⅛, the last on higher first quarter earnings.

The Dow-Jones industrial average dropped 1.61 and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped 0.07. A total of 1,306 issues crossed the tape Tuesday of which 552 declined and 498 advanced. Of these 81 hit new 1962 lows and 30 touched new highs.

Tawes Outlines Record Of His Administration

Intensifies Drive For Re-Election

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes saturated Baltimore television viewers Tuesday night with what he listed as facts about his administration which make him deserving of renomination for a second term by Democrats May 15.

The governor appeared in films on all three Baltimore television stations at different times to signal an intensification of his drive for the election three weeks away.

Tawes outlined his theme in two 5-minute films in the early evening "to keep the important issues before the people." He expanded on them in a prepared 15-minute appearance later.

In both instances, Tawes said he did not think it fitting or dignified for him to engage in invective or "try to appeal to people through their emotions, either by making sensational charges or going into carefully rehearsed acts . . ."

Although he never named which of his opponents he had in mind, his references obviously were to George P. Mahoney.

The issue, Tawes said, is "Which of the candidates is best qualified to be governor of this state during the next four years?"

He then told why he is proud of his qualifications.

Cites Fiscal Record

In fiscal affairs:

"Maryland ranks 10th in the nation in per capita personal income, yet 36 states take more in taxes out of each dollar you earn than Maryland does . . . This is a measurement of good fiscal management . . .

"Almost 55 per cent — well over half — of the general fund goes for education, and, in my opinion there is no better investment the state can make . . . Over 20 per cent goes for health, hospitals and mental hygiene and another 9 per cent goes for public welfare . . . In addition, $61 million — mostly collected from our state gasoline taxes — are spent on Maryland's highways . . ."

On public education:

"Maryland ranks 17th in the nation in terms of investment per pupil . . . We spend $415 on each child in the state each year. The national average is $390 . . .

"Maryland teachers are paid better than the teachers in most other states . . . We rank 10th in average salary paid to classroom teachers, with the Maryland average of $5,680 comparing to a national average of $5,215 . . . Moreover, if we count just public school instructional staff, our Maryland salaries rank ninth in the nation."

On health and public welfare:

"Almost 30 per cent of our general funds are spent on health, hospitals, mental health and public welfare . . . In the field of mental health, this administration has moved decisively into a situation once called Maryland's shame . . . We have achieved re-accreditation of the state hospital at Springfield — and Spring Grove and Crownsville are now ready for re-accreditation also . . .

Brings In Jobs

"Furthermore, we are now remaking an excellent former tuberculosis hospital at Henryton into a new 400-bed hospital for the mentally retarded . . . Funds have also been appropriated to implement plans for a second new 400-bed mental hospital probably to be located in the Washington area . . ."

On economic development:

"It was this administration that created the state's first Economic Development Department — an activity that has already played a significant part in creating thousands of new jobs and bringing millions of dollars of new payrolls into Maryland . . . It was this department that set up the first business assistance revolving fund under the (federal) Area Redevelopment Act . . ."

Gov. Tawes, for the sake of time, lumped together what he called other programs of his administration "such as the new point system for traffic violators, the passage of new laws to protect the Maryland public from fraud in the savings and loan industry, the homebuilding industry, and in security dealings, the establishment of full-time judges for the police courts of Baltimore City."

SRC Forces Are Patching Area Roads

Winter Damage Is Considerable

Maintenance forces of the State Roads Commission are busy patching winter-damaged sections of highways in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer, said the winter damage has not been as great as last year but was heavy in some areas as a result of the numerous freezing-thawing cycles.

He said the patching work is about 25 per cent complete and that officials hope to have the work done by May 20.

Patching work has been somewhat delayed in this section due to the late spring. Since April, 25 inches of snow has fallen in Garrett County and about 11 inches in Allegany County, chiefly west of Clarysville.

Mr. Bushby said primary highways fared rather well, except on U.S Route 40 between Keysers Ridge and Big Savage, and U.S. Route 219 from Keysers Ridge all the way to Deep Creek Lake, except for a new section completed last year by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

As soon as the patching work is completed, SRC crews will begin surface treatment on areas which are beginning to show wear, or where the bituminous concrete is beginning to dry out and needs to be revitalized.

Included in this year's maintenance program is the application of a new wearing course on Route 49, Braddock Road, from the city limits to U.S. Route 40.

It will consist of a one-inch course of bituminous concrete surfacing, and is scheduled this summer.

Gleason Warns Of GOP Clique

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)— Republican senatorial candidate James P Gleason warned Tuesday night that the GOP in Maryland is doomed unless party voters nominate "young, vigorous standard bearers" in the May 15 primary.

Gleason, 40, charged, in separate addresses, to the College Park Junior Chamber of Commerce and the McKeldin Republican Women's Auxiliary that "a clique of four old men is running the state party into the ground."

Gleason, a Bethesda attorney, said the four men are former Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, State Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart, and incumbent Senators John Marshall Butler and J. Glenn Beall.

"Republican voters are unaware that the stifling of young blood and the exclusion of vigorous, dynamic candidates by the foursome, which refuses to relinquish its power, has permitted Democratic registration in Maryland to steadily increase since 1950," said Gleason.

The rejections that day ran higher than Saturday when 83 vehicles were checked. Four were rejected, one for having a smooth tire and three for faulty windshield wipers.

City Residents Have 17 Days To Register

Residents of Cumberland have 17 days to register for the coming municipal elections, City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said yesterday.

He said the City Registration Office, located in the basement of City Hall, expects to be swamped during the next few weeks if all of the citizens who are eligible to vote come in and register.

It is possible, he said, that over 4,000 persons who are eligible for registration will not be qualified to vote in the city primary on June 5 and the general municipal election on June 19.

City registration books will close at 5 p. m. on May 15 and those who are not on the books at that time will not be eligible to vote.

The City Registration Office will be open during the usual 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. hours Monday through Friday until the books are closed.

For the benefit of those who cannot come during regular office hours, the office will be open from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturday, May 5, and Saturday, May 12.

Registration on the county books, Mr. Ullery stressed, does not qualify Cumberland residents to vote in city elections, since it is necessary to register at both City Hall and the Court House to get on both sets of books.

Cheat River Is Searched For Bodies

Skindivers from Pittsburgh and Fairmont, W. Va. are expected to resume a search of Cheat River near Kingwood, W. Va., tomorrow for the bodies of a 26-year-old Pittsburgh school teacher and an Army paratrooper from Georgia who have been missing since Sunday afternoon.

Being sought are the bodies of Ellen Cook and Pfc. Bernard Barrett of Meigs, Ga. who was stationed at Camp Dawson near Kingwood with a guerrilla warfare training unit.

The skindivers Monday searched for the missing woman under the direction of Army Captain Gerard B. Overman. The serviceman is believed to be in the river downstream from the woman's body.

Muddy water hampered the efforts of the searchers and it is hoped the river will be much clearer tomorrow when search efforts will resume.

Barrett was one of several members of the 82d Airborne Division who swam the river in an attempt to save Miss Cook after a canoe in which she was riding capsized.

She was in the canoe with John Philbrick, 25, also of Pittsburgh, who was unable to rescue the teacher. He swam to shore and was taken to the Preston County Hospital in Kingwood.

SRC Forces Are Patching Area Roads

Winter Damage Is Considerable

Maintenance forces of the State Roads Commission are busy patching winter-damaged sections of highways in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer, said the winter damage has not been as great as last year but was heavy in some areas as a result of the numerous freezing-thawing cycles.

He said the patching work is about 25 per cent complete and that officials hope to have the work done by May 20.

Patching work has been somewhat delayed in this section due to the late spring. Since April, 25 inches of snow has fallen in Garrett County and about 11 inches in Allegany County, chiefly west of Clarysville.

Mr. Bushby said primary highways fared rather well, except on U.S Route 40 between Keysers Ridge and Big Savage, and U.S. Route 219 from Keysers Ridge all the way to Deep Creek Lake, except for a new section completed last year by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

The SRC crews are patching either with hot or cold mixes, depending on availability of materials.

As soon as the patching work is completed, SRC crews will begin surface treatment on areas which are beginning to show wear, or where the bituminous concrete is beginning to dry out and needs to be revitalized.

Included in this year's maintenance program is the application of a new wearing course on Route 49, Braddock Road, from the city limits to U.S. Route 40.

It will consist of a one-inch course of bituminous concrete surfacing, and is scheduled this summer.

Gleason Warns Of GOP Clique

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Republican senatorial candidate James P Gleason warned Tuesday night that the GOP in Maryland is doomed unless party voters nominate "young, vigorous standard bearers" in the May 15 primary.

Gleason, 40, charged, in separate addresses, to the College Park Junior Chamber of Commerce and the McKeldin Republican Women's Auxiliary that "a clique of four old men is running the state party into the ground."

Gleason, a Bethesda attorney, said the four men are former Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, State Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart, and incumbent Senators John Marshall Butler and J. Glenn Beall.

"Republican voters are unaware that the stifling of young blood and the exclusion of vigorous, dynamic candidates by the foursome, which refuses to relinquish its power, has permitted Democratic registration in Maryland to steadily increase since 1950," said Gleason.

City Residents Have 17 Days To Register

Residents of Cumberland have 17 days to register for the coming municipal elections, City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said yesterday.

He said the City Registration Office, located in the basement of City Hall, expects to be swamped during the next few weeks if all of the citizens who are eligible to vote come in and register.

It is possible, he said, that over 4,000 persons who are eligible for registration will not be qualified to vote in the city primary on June 5 and the general municipal election on June 19.

City registration books will close at 5 p. m. on May 15 and those who are not on the books at that time will not be eligible to vote.

The City Registration Office will be open during the usual 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. hours Monday through Friday until the books are closed.

For the benefit of those who cannot come during regular office hours, the office will be open from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturday, May 5, and Saturday, May 12.

Registration on the county books, Mr. Ullery stressed, does not qualify Cumberland residents to vote in city elections, since it is necessary to register at both City Hall and the Court House to get on both sets of books.

Cheat River Is Searched For Bodies

Skindivers from Pittsburgh and Fairmont, W. Va. are expected to resume a search of Cheat River near Kingwood, W. Va., tomorrow for the bodies of a 26-year-old Pittsburgh school teacher and an Army paratrooper from Georgia who have been missing since Sunday afternoon.

Being sought are the bodies of Ellen Cook and Pfc. Bernard Barrett of Meigs, Ga. who was stationed at Camp Dawson near Kingwood with a guerrilla warfare training unit.

The skindivers Monday searched for the missing woman under the direction of Army Captain Gerard B. Overman. The serviceman is believed to be in the river downstream from the woman's body.

Muddy water hampered the efforts of the searchers and it is hoped the river will be much clearer tomorrow when search efforts will resume.

Barrett was one of several members of the 82d Airborne Division who swam the river in an attempt to save Miss Cook after a canoe in which she was riding capsized.

She was in the canoe with John Philbrick, 25, also of Pittsburgh, who was unable to rescue the teacher. He swam to shore and was taken to the Preston County Hospital in Kingwood.
